What Would Mr. Ed Say?

Rested and with "Duke" reshod, Ted Friesz of Tacoma, Wash., headed for the New York World's Fair today from Waterford Park, expecting to arrive early next month, almost a year after he left Seattle.

Friesz figures he has another 20 days in the saddle before he achieves his goal. When he reached East Liverpool Thursday afternoon, it marked his 121st day astride the palomino which he purchased for the trip.

THE REMAINDER of the time — approximately five or six months, Friesz estimates — the industrial painter spent working in Wyoming, Nebraska and Illinois to earn enough money to continue his coast-to-coast trip.

The bearded horseman paid 15 cents toll to Clifford Beame, collector at the Newell Bridge, before leading "Duke" across the pedestrian walk yesterday. The roadway grating wasn't to the horse's liking.

It was the third toll bridge that Friesz had crossed since they left the Seattle World's Fair grounds last May 16. Friesz stopped at the Newell Post Office, where he had his mail forwarded, and then rode down to Waterford Park to seek a blacksmith for new shoes for "Duke" on the last leg of the cross-country journey.

FRIESZ SPENT Wednesday night at the Lisbon Fairgrounds and had camped out

Tuesday night at Paris on Route 172 in Stark County. "I generally stop at fairgrounds, sale barns or race tracks, if they have stable room," he said.

He generally has followed U.S. Route 30 since leaving Oregon, and has stopped only twice since crossing the Mississippi River. Once was because "Duke", apparently tiring of the long walk, kicked him in the hip.

Each day's journey depends on the terrain, Friesz said, but estimated he has been averaging about 25 miles a day. The horseman came through Indiana about a week before the tornadoes ravaged the state and had reached Wooster when the storm hit the Toledo area.

Extension Of Pact Aim Of Industry

Union Described As 'House Divided' By Top Negotiator

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Strike fears rose today after the United Steelworkers Union rejected a steel industry proposal to swap some contract improvements for an extension of the May 1 strike deadline.

"I'm never discouraged, but I am disappointed now," said steelworkers President David J. McDonald Thursday after rejection of the latest industry proposal.

Both the union and the basic steel industry declined to reveal the cash value of the proposal.

But a union source said it was about five cents an hour per man for the duration of a limited agreement that could run from 60 days to 6 months. Some 450,000 USW members are employed in basic steel.

R. Conrad Cooper, chief industry negotiator, criticized the union as "a house divided against itself." He blamed it for crisis bargaining which he said has upset the domestic steel market and allowed imports to pour into the country.

He said the industry proposal would have allowed the market to stabilize, added money to workers' paychecks, and permitted the union to settle the bitter election contest between McDonald and Secretary-Treasurer I. W. Abel.

Official results of the election are expected soon. Abel is expected to win, but a court fight could result.

Cooper and McDonald spoke at separate news conferences after talks recessed for the Easter weekend.

McDonald said he hoped the industry "would re-examine its conscience." He said the union was prepared to consider any added proposals Monday.

Sources said the union wanted 16 cents an hour and an extension no longer than 45 days.

The industry has said since talks started last January that it would agree to no more than a 2 per cent increase per year in the average steelworker earnings of $4.40 an hour.

Under a one-year limited agreement the industry first suggested earlier this week, this would have figured to slightly less than 10 cents an hour.

But in the final offer made by the companies late Thursday, they cut the duration to six months at the most and reduced the increase to only about five cents an hour.

The industry's latest proposal called for an extension of the current contract past May 1 and signing of a limited agreement that could be reopened any time after that date with 60 days' notice.

Union sources said the money and not the length of the extension was the main point of disagreement.

Bomb Scare Forces Landing Of Airliner

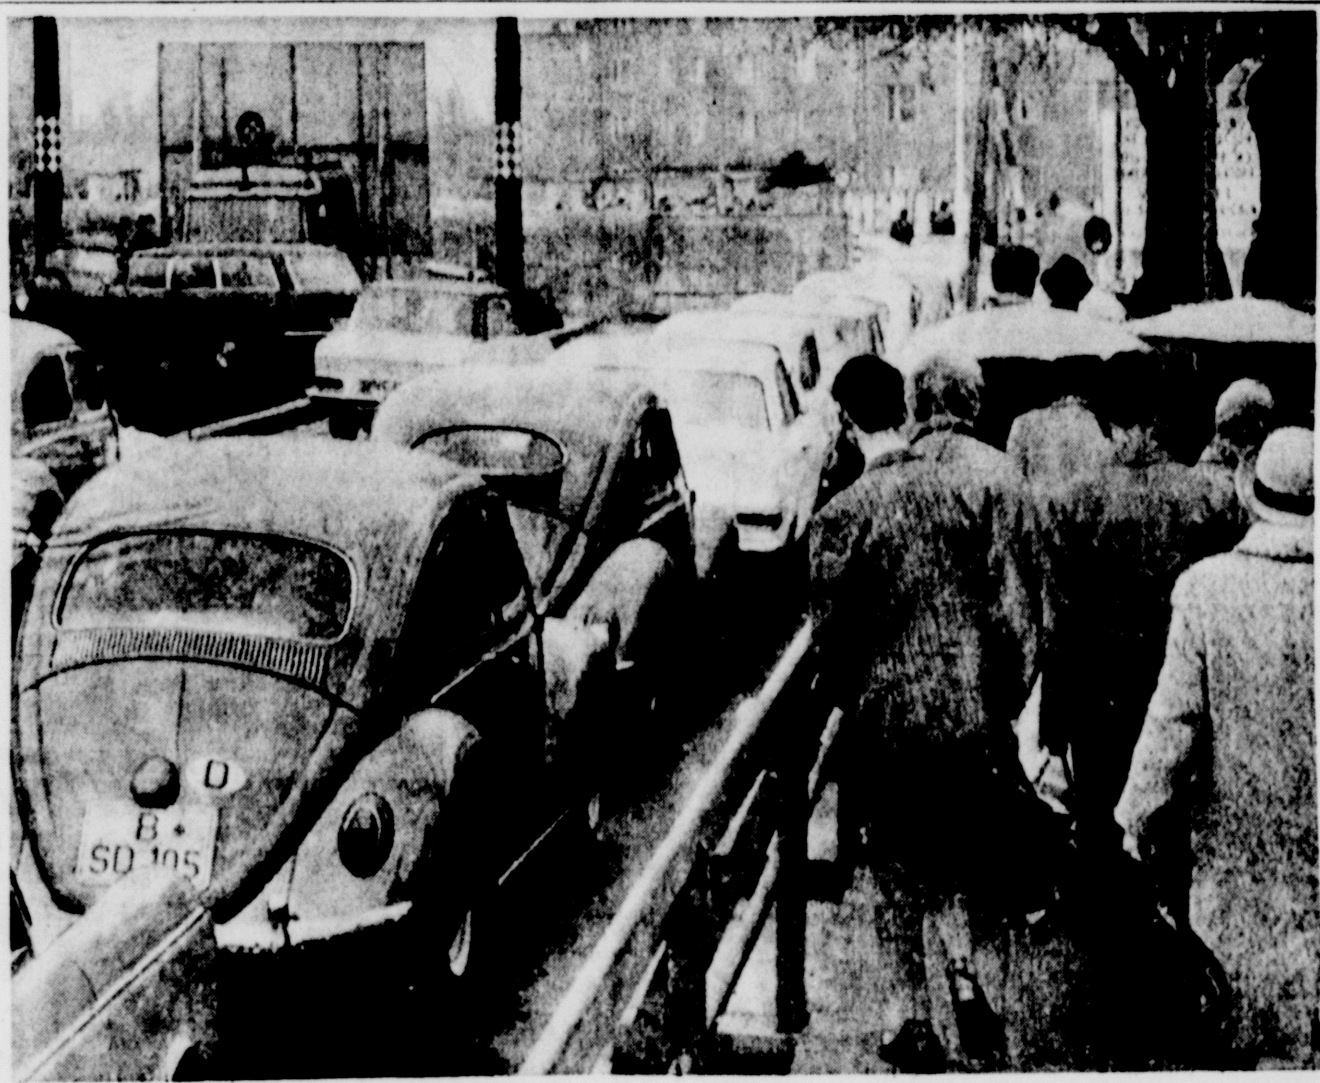

CLEVELAND (AP) — Word that a bomb was planted on a nonstop New York-to-Los Angeles airliner caused it to land at Cleveland Hopkins International Airport Thursday night.

The American Airlines 707 astrojet was emptied of its 128 passengers and crew of seven while FBI agents and Cleveland police searched for a bomb and found none.

The passengers included Walter O'Malley, Los Angeles Dodgers baseball club owner, and Nobuyuki Makimura of the Japanese Atomic Energy Bureau.

U.S., Britain Eying Parley On Cambodia

See It As Possible Channel For Peace Talks On Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and Britain are eyeing a proposed conference on Cambodia as a possible channel for peace talks on Viet Nam.

President Johnson and British Prime Minister Harold Wilson discussed the prospects Thursday. Both U.S. and British sources said later the diplomatic picture will have to clear some before they can decide whether such a conference would be worthwhile.

Southeast Asia mixed with economics on Wilson's agenda as the British Laborite leader stopped in Washington for a day en route home from a speech-making trip to New York. It was his second visit here since becoming prime minister last October and both he and Johnson expressed satisfaction with it.

Meeting separately with Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler and Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor, Wilson expounded his views on expanding commerce and forming a more flexible international payments system.

U.S. sources said Fowler's British counterpart, Chancellor of the Exchequer James Callaghan, is being invited here in June for further talks. Wilson was reported encouraged over prospects of developing an international monetary system which puts less pressure on the dollar and the pound.

The political side of the international scene got the most attention during a one-hour Johnson-Wilson meeting at the White House, followed by a luncheon with administration and congressional leaders. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and British Minister of State George Thomson sat in.

Wilson lavished praise on Johnson's April 7 speech declaring U.S. determination to defend South Viet Nam and offering unconditional peace discussions and $1 billion toward Southeast Asian economic development.

In Meter Controversy

Karpark Offers Lower Bid Again

Two concerns in hot contention for a contract to sell 409 parking meters to the city duplicated their March 8 bids exactly when the Board of Control opened a second round of offers Thursday afternoon at City Hall.

The Karpark Corp. of Starkville, Miss., was low again with a net price of $46.10 for its automatic meters and the Rockwell Manufacturing Co. of Pittsburgh ranked second with a net quotation of $52 on its Park-O-Meters.

MAYOR Merrill D. Hall and Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey, who comprise the board, have indicated they would let the contract to Karpark if it again filed the lower bid. Five of the seven council members have urged acceptance of the Rockwell bid, attacking the quality of the Mississippi-made meter.

But the mayor and director took no immediate action after receiving the offers yesterday.

The bids were taken under consideration for computation, as they also involve such factors as discounts of 3 to 5 per cent for prompt payment.

The mayor and director also received and read bids from two concerns which make manual-type meters, as opposed to the automatic type on which Karpark and Rockwell bid. But the bids on the manual types cannot be considered because the Council legislative authority under which offers were sought limited the administration to the automatics, the director reiterated.

Karpark, Rockwell and three other firms filed offers in the original bid - opening session March 8. But the mayor and director announced on March 26 all offers had been rejected in order to give Karpark another opportunity to bid.

Karpark's original prices could not be considered because the firm enclosed a cashier's check for $100,000.

Union, Firms Slate Pottery Contract Talk

Preparations Set For Beginning Of Cincinnati Parley

Pottery industry union and management spokesmen are completing arrangements for a conference that will open Wednesday in Cincinnati on the reopening of the current three-year contract on wages and working conditions which will expire Dec. 1.

E. L. Wheatley, president, will lead negotiators for the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters, while the U.S. Potters Association will be represented by its labor committee, headed by Joseph M. Wells Jr. and John T. Hall as co-chairmen.

The current agreement went into effect Dec. 1, 1962. The Brotherhood requested the conference under a clause that allows it to be reopened by mutual consent any time after Dec. 1, 1964.

Labor and management announced on Feb. 11 that they had agreed to meet in Cincinnati for the reopening discussion.

The pact covers the Hall China Co., the Homer Laughlin China Co., the Harker China Co. and the Taylor, Smith & Taylor Co., all in the East Liverpool district; the Salem China Co. at Salem, the Canonsburg Pottery Co. at Canonsburg, Pa., and the Royal China Co. at Sebring. The original contract also covered the French-Saxon China Co. at Sebring, which now

Killer Tornadoes Strike Tennessee

Rampaging Mississippi Churns More Destruction

By The Associated Press

Murky, debris-littered water from the swollen Mississippi River churned through low-lying areas of four states today, leaving thousands homeless.

Minnesota's river communities braced for their wettest Easter weekend in history as the U.S. Weather Bureau raised its crest forecasts for the river below St. Paul.

Record crests were predicted by weather experts in Minnesota, Iowa and Wisconsin. Communities in Illinois, on the Mississippi, and in North Dakota, on the Red River of the North, also prepared for flood conditions.

The Red Cross gave these statistics for Iowa, Wisconsin, Minnesota and North Dakota:

Ten dead, 187 injured or ill, 35 hospitalized, 7 dwellings destroyed, 3,402 dwellings damaged.

aged, 25 farm buildings destroyed, 5,953 families suffered loss, and 50,052 persons given aid.

Meanwhile, killer tornadoes made their second attack of the week on the nation.

At least four tornadoes did a hop-skip-and-jump through eastern Tennessee Thursday, killing two persons, injuring 50 and forcing 200 from their homes.

One tornado smashed into a trailer camp in Cleveland, Tenn., sending 50 persons to hospitals. Four of the injured were in serious condition. The twister upset 55 trailers.

Rescue workers pulled screaming victims from the debris.

Officials said 21 small airplanes at the Cleveland airport were damaged and three hangars were destroyed. Damage to the facility was placed at $200,000. One plane was carried two blocks and dropped on the trailer park.

Joseph Strub of the Weather Bureau in Minnesota, said the Mississippi crest might remain at its high mark for three to five days before receding.

Record crests on the Mississippi are due late today in Minneapolis and St. Paul. The Minneapolis crest is set at 21 feet, 5 feet over flood stage, and the St. Paul crest at 27 feet, 13 feet beyond bankful levels.

No major business districts of either city are threatened, but several industrial areas are, or will be, waterbound.

The outpouring of water and ice from the St. Croix River along the Minnesota-Wisconsin border resulted in crest forecasts one to two feet higher than earlier estimates.

By Their Own Free Choice

U.S. Expected To Press For Reunifying Germany

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is expected to tell the world soon that it insists on the right of the Germans to move toward peaceful reunification by their own free choice.

This restatement of the U.S. position will probably come in form of a major policy speech by a top figure of the administration, authoritative sources reported.

Such a speech might replace a three-power declaration, suggested by the Germans, to remind the Soviets of their responsibility toward Germany.

Bonn would temporarily be satisfied with a joint declaration by the United States, Britain and France. The West German government originally asked for a "new initiative," an effort to revive the dormant question of reunification.

Willy Brandt, mayor of West Berlin and head of the opposition Social Democratic party, said, agreed to this plan and the British government is known to be sympathetic to it. There was, however, no response from Paris as yet.

American officials do not conceal their annoyance over the French delay, but say they have no reason to doubt that France ultimately will consent. If not, the appeal will be made unilaterally, in form of a top-level speech.

U.S. Planes Blast North Viet Bridges

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—North Vietnamese highway and rail bridges were systematically destroyed today by about 150 U.S. Navy and Air Force jet fighters and bombers.

A U.S. military spokesman said the strikes were a complete success.

About 70 Air Force planes rained bombs and rockets on three road and rail bridges, starting with a blow at Kim Cuong bridge near Laos and continuing up highway Route 1.

About 80 Navy planes swept in from the sea and concentrated on highway structures.

All planes returned safely with only minor damage, the spokesman said, adding that no enemy planes were sighted.

Canadian Writer Reports

No Eve-Of-War Feeling Believed In Red China

American newsmen are barred by Red China. Occasionally a Canadian writer gets a visa. This is a report sent to the Southam Newspapers of Canada by the chief of the Southam News Services.

By CHARLES LYNCH

PEKING (AP) — Despite the violence of anti-American propaganda in Red China's capital, there seems to be no eve-of-war feeling in the Chinese air and no outward evidence that the Chinese government envisages escalation of the Viet Nam conflict into large-scale war.

The campaign against the U.S. government and armed forces was carried forward this week with the opening of a display of photographs, paintings and cartoons built around President Johnson as the arch-villain.

This sort of material, vividly displayed at the Peking Art Gallery, could be called the "pop art" of China today. The latest entries achieve new heights of bitterness replete with American skulls, American coffins, American graves, and American soldiers and politicians covering before the stalwart people and troops of the Viet Cong and North Viet Nam.

Quiet crowds passed through the exhibit amid popping flashbulbs without any display of emotion. This Canadian correspondent, who from all appearances might be an American, passed through with them without incident.

The riddle remains of whether the Chinese intend to follow their battle of the posters with something more tangible. But the tenor of feeling here continues to be defensive in tone. The Chinese leave no doubt that they will fight if provoked but will not undertake provocation that would lead to military escalation.

The whole of the vast military apparatus of China is geared to defense of the homeland.

The end effect is a glorification of the military that has gone out of fashion in most nations of the world.

When the Chinese speak of contemporary themes in their current literature and theater they mean building up the army and Chairman Mao Tze-tung, and attacking old enemies, landlords and Americans, and new enemies, the Khrushchevite revisionists of Moscow.

The hate campaign seems designed not so much to stir up trouble outside as to reinforce the revolution inside the country and make sure that the young people of China don't lose their fervor for the backbreaking tasks that confront them at home.

This means that the country is holding a sort of perpetual rally and any target that presents itself is seized upon for its emotional content.

The American government — not, one is assured, the fine working people of America, but the rascals in power — presents the most prized target, though the Chinese cartoonists are having some trouble with President Johnson and in some cartoons he seems to resemble Richard Nixon.

Scholar Fund Sets April 24 'Hootenanny'

A "Hootenanny" for the benefit of the Dollars For Scholars drive will be presented April 24 at Memorial Auditorium, featuring the Jarvis Twins and the Lowlanders.

Vincent Laneve, chairman of the concert program, said the singing will start at 8 p. m. and continue so long as the audience remains.

Paul Jarvis and Ron Jarvis, East Liverpool High School graduates now in college and slated to sing at the New York World's Fair, are on the program.

Laneve said selections also will be presented by the Lowlanders, a group of local college students.

The Jarvis Twins are appearing without cost in order that all proceeds will go to the Citizens Scholarship Foundation, which provides financial aid to qualified students in seven area school districts.

Admission donations will be $1 a person.

Potters Charter Local In Canada

The International Brotherhood of Operative Potters said today it has issued a charter to newly-organized Local Union 338, representing employees of the Stevenson Pottery, Ltd., at Chambly, Que., Canada.

The action was taken after the Quebec Labor Relations Board issued a certificate listing the IBOP as exclusive bargaining agent for the employees. The IBOP said the workers selected the union as their bargaining agent "by an overwhelming majority" in an election.

Minor Damage Seen In California Quake

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — Only minor damage was reported from an earthquake in a three-county area Thursday.

The quake was felt at 12:08 p.m. in Riverside, San Bernardino, Fontana, Rialto, Colton, Chino, Pomona and Santa Ana.

The California Institute of Technology said it had a magnitude on the Richter scale of 4.5. Some windows and crockery were broken and telephone service was disrupted briefly.

Cars Figure In Odd Crash

Three cars were involved in an unusual accident Thursday afternoon at Chester.

A 1964 Plymouth sedan, driven by Stephen Chapko, of Route 1, Chester, struck a 1963 Plymouth convertible driven by Louis M. Pulse, also of Route 1, Chester, which in turn rammed a third car, a 1965 Chevrolet coupe, driven by Ronald A. Frischkorn, of Route 1, Wells-ville, on Carolina Ave. about 5:45 p. m.

Chester police, who investigated, said the Pulse and Frischkorn autos had stopped for a traffic signal when hit from behind by Chapko's car. Chapko was cited on a charge of hazardous driving and was scheduled to appear at a hearing this morning before Mayor Harry Abrams.

Combined damage of $400 was estimated.

Minor damage was reported as the result of another accident yesterday at about 9 p. m. on Carolina Ave. and 5th St. involving a 1952 Plymouth sedan driven by Paul Dean Conkle of Route 1, Chester, and a 1964 Ford sedan driven by E.E. Hamm, of Lodi, Ohio, in which Conkle's auto struck Hamm's auto from behind, Hamm having come to a stop for a traffic signal.

Conkle, who was cited by Chester police for failure to have his vehicle under control, is due a hearing Monday at 7 p. m. Hamm was charged with having no operator's license.

Youth, 18, Is Injured When Rim 'Explodes'

WEST BRIDGEWATER — David Wayne Lambert, 18, is in Mercy Hospital, Pittsburgh, with severe facial injuries received in a freak accident Thursday afternoon at the Beaver Valley Tire Service here.

Lambert was knocking a tire off a rim when bolts holding the rim together let go and the rim exploded in his face. The bolts apparently were stripped, co-workers said.

Lambert was taken to Rochester General Hospital with lacerations of the forehead and left eye and then was transferred to Pittsburgh.

3 Prisoners Set Free For Good Friday

Granting his traditional Good Friday amnesty to prisoners held in City Jail on misdemeanor charges, Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today released three men who had been behind bars since early this week, "laying out" fines on intoxication counts.

Admonishing the men that the religious holiday "is a good time to get closer to God," Judge Chertoff granted release to: Francis W. Fetty, 843 Sophia St.; John F. Malone of Sandusky, and Wiser Adkins of 64-D Midland Heights, Midland.

The three men were brought to court in the morning lineup of prisoners, then summoned before the bench after the pending cases had been decided.

"In keeping with the court's policy of Good Friday amnesty, I am releasing all three of you from jail," the judge said.

"It is the opinion of the court that Good Friday is not a day for anybody to be behind bars. It is a good time for you to get closer to God. I suggest you attend church services today."

The judge then warned each of the men that he should "be prepared to go to jail for the next month" if he is brought into court again anytime in the next month.

Malone and Adkins were sentenced to fines of $10 and $7.50 costs on Monday, while Fetty was fined $15 and costs on Tuesday. Each was charged under the city ordinance against public intoxication.

Malone was arrested last Friday night, Adkins was arrested Sunday and Fetty was charged early Tuesday.

The judge has made it a policy to release city prisoners on Good Friday since assuming the bench nearly six years ago.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two men were being held Thursday night on armed robbery charges and a third still was being sought following a series of holdups and a speeding gun battle with police.

Larry Wilson, 20, of Columbus surrendered at the scene. Another man, Thomas Chris Linville, 22, also of Columbus, was arrested in Columbus Thursday night. Still at large was 20-year-old Joseph A. Barker of Columbus.

These figures were set Thursday by the trustees, who said 5,350 students will be admitted in September, when Fenn College will transfer its facilities to CSU to begin official operations.

Part-time CSU students from Ohio will pay $14 per credit hour, while non-residents will pay $28, the trustees said.

Fine Imposed On 2 Drivers

Fines were imposed on two motorists today in Municipal Court on alleged traffic violations, while another forfeited an appearance bond and continuances were granted two more.

Mrs. Janet Sue Stewart of Wellsville R.D. 1 was fined $10 and costs on a charge of speeding 65 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on the East Liverpool-Wellsville super - road. The fine was suspended on payment of costs.

Mrs. Stewart was cited by the State Highway Patrol Thursday at 10:19 p.m. She pleaded "no contest."

George J. Lamp of Chester R.D. 1 was fined $10 and costs when he pleaded guilty to driving his auto left of center on a yellow line marking a "hazardous zone." He was cited by the State Highway Patrol April 8 on Route 30.

Queried by the court when he arrived 10 minutes late for the hearing, Lamp replied: "I couldn't find this place."

The court granted a continuance until next Thursday at 9 a.m. in the case of Joseph J. Stajnar of Carmichaels, Pa., cited April 3 by the patrol on a charge of speeding 70 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on Route 30. A service station operator, the Pennsylvania said he was towing an auto at the time he was cited.

He pleaded not guilty at arraignment this morning and the court set the new hearing date to arrange the appearance of the arresting officer. Stajnar's $32.50 bond was continued.

The court also set a hearing next Thursday for Ford Kipper, 336 Maxwell Rd., Chester, charged with failure to halt for a stop sign March 15 on Midway Ln. at Curry St. His $32.50 bond was continued. There's No Alternative

With all the squawking about it, you would think there was an alternative to reapportionment of the Ohio House of Representatives.

There isn't. Like it or not, the makeup of the House will be changed whether it is done by a state apportionment board, as proposed in Issue No. 3 on the May ballot, or by the federal courts.

No matter who does it, the effect will be the same. Metropolitan areas will increase their representation; rural areas will lose some of theirs.

This has been decreed by the courts in dome-shaking decisions which have held both houses of state legislatures must be apportioned strictly according to population.

OHIO'S Hanna Amendment, which guarantees each county at least one representative, regardless of population, has been ruled unconstitutional. No matter how Ohioans vote May 4, it cannot be preserved.

Fifty-seven counties are too thinly populated to be guaranteed individual representation under the population guideline in Issue 3. The apportionment board would decide how these counties should be combined to form legislative districts of nearly equal population.

The issue to be decided May 4 is not whether small counties will lose individual representation. The only issue is how they will lose it, by state or judicial action.

Court-implemented reapportionment would provide nothing more than a temporary solution to a continuing problem. The proposed amendment provides for a continuous apportionment board, avoiding the necessity of going to the voters after each decennial census.

Democrats and organized labor are waging a campaign to scuttle Issue 3 and hope to place an alternative plan on the November election ballot.

As of now, there is no alternative. Any attempt to push one through the GOP-controlled House would be doomed from the start — just as that recent proposal for fractional representation was.

BY VOTING yes on Issue 3, Ohioans will not be voting to destroy individual representation in small counties. This already has been done by court order. By the same token, a vote against Issue 3 will not be a vote to preserve rural representation but a vote to let the court move in.

The question is no longer one of satisfaction or dissatisfaction with the reapportionment proposal.

It is, rather, a question of whether the state's obligation to realign its House of Representatives should be carried out by the state or be usurped by the courts.

Hold It!

East Liverpool and area motorists who have been the victims of stone-throwing incidents can take heart from legislation which has received approval of the Ohio House of Representatives.

The measure would ban the throwing of rocks or other "hard substance" objects at or from motor vehicles.

Only yesterday we were reminded of the danger of rocks hurled at passing cars. It's a thoughtless prank that could lead to serious trouble and injury.

While legislation itself cannot be expected to erase such incidents, it could have the effect of acting as a deterrent in some cases.

A National Disgrace

While killings in the streets and subways of New York City have captured the major share of the public's attention, more than two-thirds of that city's homicides took place within four walls, it was revealed this week in the police department's report for 1964.

Of the 637 homicides for the year, 415 or 65.3 per cent took place indoors. The 1963 record stood at 549 homicides with 362 indoors.

Of the 415 indoor killings in 1964, 135 were attributed to family altercations.

A BREAKDOWN of these frightening figures reveals that 16 husbands were killed by their wives; 27 wives were killed by their husbands; 9 sons were killed by their mothers; 5 sons by their fathers; one son by both parents; 12 daughters were killed by their mothers; 4 by their fathers; 4 sons killed their fathers.

One stepson was killed by his stepfather; 2 brothers killed brothers; 2 killed sisters; 4 brothers-in-law killed brothers-in-law. Also 29 common law wives were killed by their common law husbands while 18 common law husbands were killed by their common law wives.

According to figures released by the FBI in March, the national rate for murder in six cities of more than a million population was up 13 per cent over the 1963 total while there was a 9 per cent increase over all in the nation's murder rate.

IN THE FACE of such appalling evidence it appears the Great Society is much farther away than our complacency would lead us to believe.

To point to a moral in these statistics, one might ask: How can we possibly expect peace and tranquility among a family of nations as long as intra-family killings run rampant?

A Whale Of A Difference

For for these many centuries, astronomers who keep time by the moon have been three-tenths of a second in error. This startling finding was announced at Watson Laboratory at Columbia University after five years' work by a huge electronic computer and a team of scientists.

The computation represents the most precise calculation ever made of the moon's orbit-accurate to one part in 10 million.

The figures also indicate that the moon's mass may be distributed like a watermelon with a heavy rind on the outside, and a light, fluffy inside. This would be unlike the earth which is heavier on its interior than on its crust.

The error harks back to the basic equations of gravity worked out by Sir Isaac Newton, exactly three centuries ago.

As explained by Dr. W. J. Eckert, director of the Columbia laboratory, Newton's equations can be solved when two bodies attract one another, but cannot be solved by known mathematical techniques when more than two are involved. With the moon's orbit, astronomers have to take into account not only the earth, but the sun and planets.

Dr. Eckert said observations by the United States Naval Observatory detected the three-tenths second fluctuation which previously had been overlooked.

To us earthbound creatures the reaction easily can be, "So What." But to astronauts shooting for the moon, that three-tenths of a second could be the difference between a safe landing on the surface or an eternity floating free in space.

Purely Personal

Rehashing the War of the Rebellion seems to me to have been overdone, especially when it put the rebels in a favorable light. Main fact is, the Union won. The Confederacy lost. The Allies won and Germany lost in both World Wars, too—another outcome that no one should have disregarded.

I wonder if retired militarists ever wind up on the liberal side of public issues. Something about the development of the military mind seems to harden it into a classical mold of reaction.

Have you noticed, too, that the sourest outlook on the rising generation is found among adults with no children of their own and who, therefore, can speak freely about what others are doing wrong?

Another thing that went wrong with baseball as a spectator sport was loss of intimacy when sprawling stadiums replaced cozy parks in which fans and players had the happy illusion of being within hearing distance of each other.

I am ignorant about radio, which may be why I am puzzled when I try to find something worth listening to while motor-ing and every station is broadcasting screeching cacophony, some of it hill-billy, some of it worse.

Call it Twill's Law: All public agencies fall under the domination of the administrative mind, at the expense of whatever function the agencies were set up to perform.

A friend and I have been discussing codes of conduct and have reached the conclusion that the least compelling code often is the written law — that moral, social and even criminal codes of conduct take precedence over statutes.

It occurs to me in connection with this year's planting of gladioli that I never have done more than half the job in the time allotted for its completion. All those holes. All that peeling off old coverings. Takes time.

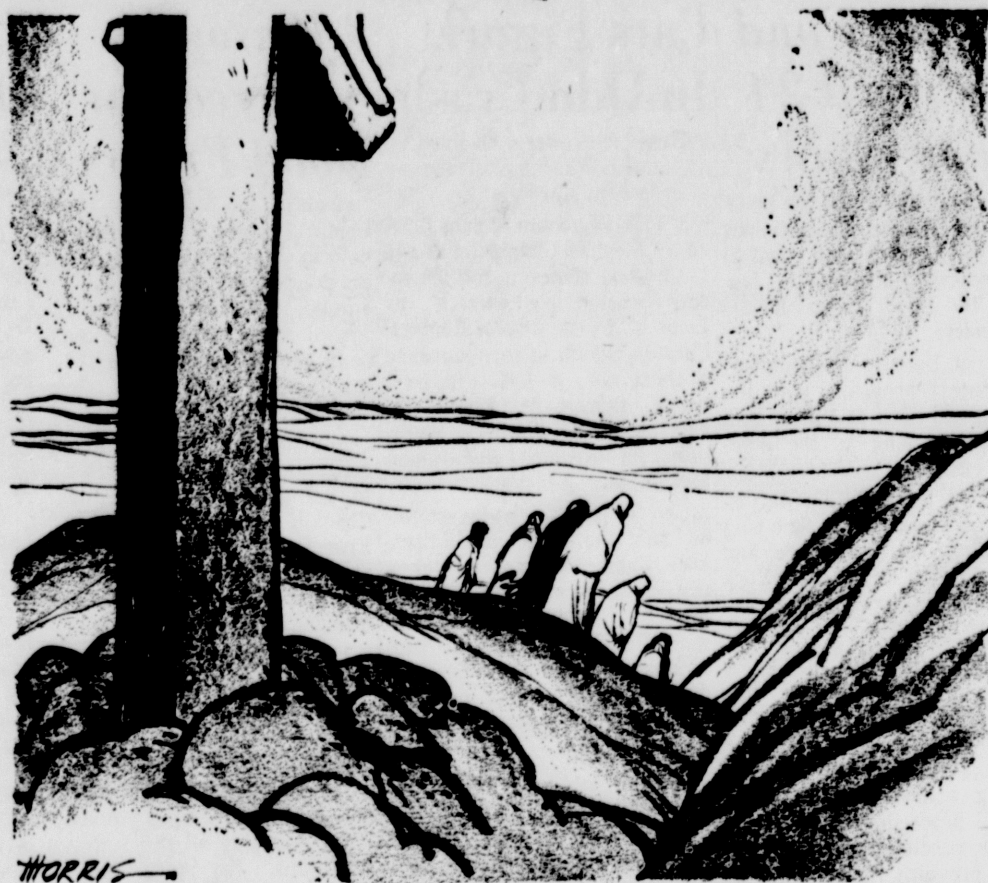

I have just looked up the name of my phobia — fear of wind. It is called "anemophobia." I also am afraid of work — "ergophobia"—and heights—"acrophobia."

For the first time in several years, the lady who packs things in my suitcase when she travels is making vacation plans for us, instead of letting natural events take their course. Anything we might do which would be different would constitute a vacation. Makes the planning easy.

I am prepared to argue with deep conviction that dividing the population between urban and rural is unrealistic and has been increasingly so since the advent of the auto and electricity. There is no difference in their points of view any more and not much in their circumstances.

If I may be pardoned for the observation, our Defense Department is sending men and material to South Viet Nam at a rate which makes it look like a plumber sending back to the shop for more tools.

Taft-Hartley Clause Faces Repeal

By Victor Riesel

Soon the Hill on which Congress rests will shake under the storm of battle over the removal of 44 words from the law of the land.

These 44 words give the States the right to outlaw labor contracts which insist that a worker join a union to keep his, or her, job.

The struggle between labor's forces in Congress and the defenders of the 44 words, officially known as Section 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act, will become the biggest political tornado of the season.

It will be unleashed shortly when President Johnson dispatches a letter, or an official message, to the vice president and the speaker of the House, urging the end of clause 14(b).

The document is ready—along with proposals for double time for overtime, extension of minimum wage of $50 a week to several million more persons than are now covered. There will also be requests for other upward revisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act.

THE PRESIDENT is waiting for the "decks to clear" in the Congress and for the voting scandal in the International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE) to fade away before he launches the action phase of his push to wipe out the controversial clause.

Few realize the size of the stakes in this contest. If the labor forces win, they will be able to divert millions of dollars from their long campaign against the "44 words" to other action—lobbying, politicking and organizing in areas the union chiefs believe they have not yet really touched.

These regions are the South and the Southwest and the heartland of America centering in and around Nebraska.

Since 1947, when the Taft-Hartley Act said that "Nothing in this Act shall be construed as authorizing the execution as a condition of employment in any state or territory in which such execution or application is prohibited by state or territorial law" the unions have spent "countless millions" fighting it.

Others say that this estimate is merely a totaling of the "small money, the petty cash spent." They put the figure at over $25 million thrown in either in an effort to force 20 states to repeal the "right-to-work" laws or to prevent their enactment especially in Ohio, Oklahoma and California.

Even these figures are dwarfed by reckoning of the money labor lost in the 19 states which now outlaw the union shop. Figured over a period of 18 years since the passage of the Taft-Hartley Act, the money lost in dues not paid by millions of workers in these 19 states could easily have come to hundreds of millions.

Thus the total cost in dues to the American labor movement on national, state, and local levels is incalculable.

"Countless millions" is the phrase the AFL-CIO high command uses to describe the money of which it has been "deprived" by the 14(b) clause.

Money is no measure of the manpower and energy expended on the running battle over almost two decades.

NOW THIS MONEY can be funneled into politics and new unionization drives. Manpower can be peeled off from the fight on right-to-work, and poured into thousands of precincts.

Most of the money and manpower will be aimed at the "new frontiers" in such states as Florida, Arizona and Texas which now ban the union shop contract.

There will be a push into Mississippi, Alabama and Nevada where the missile and space race have concentrated new installations.

All will depend, of course, on the repeal of 14(b). This will de-

Letter To The Editor

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

I am writing you this letter so that the facts about the Citizens Scholarship Foundation can be set down in black and white for all to see.

The Citizens Scholarship Foundation of the East Liverpool Area, Inc., is a non-profit organization operating independently to provide aid to students who reside in the East Liverpool, Wellsville, Beaver Local, Oak Glen, Midland, South Side and Western Beaver County School Districts.

It is governed by 14 trustees, two from each of the seven districts. The basic idea for the foundation was provided by the Citizens Scholarship Foundation of America, which provides campaign materials, fund-raising ideas, helps with legal questions, etc. We pay dues to this organization of $50 per year. There are no other funds leaving the districts. The CSFA exerts no control of any kind over our program. Our total expenses for campaigns have been less than 3 1/2 per cent of funds raised. We pay no one any salary of any kind.

IN OUR first two years of operation, 1963 and 1964, we gave over $28,000 of aid to students—over 60 awards averaging $475 each.

Our grants are based upon need, and each year our application form has grown more elaborate as we make an effort to more accurately determine this need. Applicants are judged by an Awards Committee made up of three representatives from each district, with the students judged anonymously. I can assure you that this pattern has been followed in every case, without exception. There has been no favoritism of any kind shown.

Prior to review by the committee, an independent and impartial professional survey firm reviews the financial statement of each applicant for general accuracy, without cost to the foundation. If the firm finds any discrepancy apparent in any of the information supplied by the applicant or his parents, a representative of the Awards Committee contacts the applicant and requests clarification of the information supplied.

In this way, we feel that we are making the most complete analysis of financial need possible. If any of your readers would like to give us constructive criticism on our procedure to make it even more fool-proof, we would welcome it.

All of the funds raised in the door-to-door canvass of a district will remain in that district, as will any funds designated to stay in a district by the donor. The books of our organization have been kept in full detail and are open to review by any who wish to check them. An annual, audited financial statement is prepared by the foundation, a copy of which is submitted to the Internal Revenue Service, which has strict standards regarding our tax-exempt status.

EACH OF the students who receives a grant is asked to repay the amount granted him within 10 years after the completion of his studies. This is not a legally binding note, but what we call a "note of honor".

The CSF chapters with more experience than ours tell us that these are paid in virtually every case.

We have, perhaps, unwittingly made mistakes from time to time in our first two years. It has been alleged that two or three of our 60-plus grants were not needed by the students involved, and it is for this reason that I have written you.

If we were to be wrong, even this much, (which I doubt) we would be in error 5 per cent of the time. It seems a shame that someone might refuse to give a dollar to a scholar because the scholar would get only 92 cents after all costs of fund raising and mistakes, if mistakes are made, especially when it is considered that most fund drives spend far more than 8 cents of each dollar on administration and fund raising.

Wouldn't it be far more helpful to give the ninety-two-cent-or-more dollar to do its work helping worthy students, and volunteer support and advice to overcome the errors which, in the opinion of some, are being made?

I think so. And I would hope that every thoughtful resident would realize that this is the only attitude which will result in a successful scholarship program.

We cannot penalize the 57 for the actions of two or three.

Bid For Votes?

By David Lawrence

Johnson's Trip To Storm Areas Questioned

Politicians have a way of following tradition — in doing the things they believe will line up votes for them long before elections take place. President Johnson is no exception to the rule. He gave a whole day to an airplane survey of the flood-stricken and tornado-swept areas of the Middle West. His predecessors have made similar "inspection" journeys. There will be many people who will wonder just what good such a trip can accomplish, and if the President wouldn't have been better advised to call in science experts and find out whether something could be done to improve the systems of warning and to provide facilities of refuge for those living in the path of such storms.

It's a tragedy, of course, that approximately 250 persons were killed by the tornadoes — more than half the number of American deaths in the last few years in Viet Nam. There were warnings sent out by the U.S. Weather Bureau before the tornadoes struck, but warnings by themselves are not adequate. Federal and local authorities, working together, might well establish a system to keep people off the highways and have them take refuge in safe places whenever a tornado is on its way.

IT'S SAID that people in the Middle West took the recent warnings in a routine way and that they didn't distinguish between an ordinary warning and a serious one. An investigation should determine whether fire alarms or Civil Defense sirens were sounded or other signals used in the Middle West, such as is done in the Pacific Coast areas where tidal waves are from time to time a serious threat.

There are difficulties, to be sure, in identifying the approach of a serious storm because the radar systems are by no means perfect. This very fact emphasizes the necessity for precautionary measures on the part of the public itself.

Many people in the Midwest are complaining that they did not have adequate warning. The Chicago Daily News reports that the residents in certain areas "seemed bitter over the lack of advance word from radio and television." The Indianapolis Star in an editorial says:

"With the technical equipment and knowledge already in our hands, it should be quite feasible to track tornadoes and other killer storms and keep the people informed as to where they are and where they are heading — not just in terms of general area warnings covering periods of hours but in pinned-down specifics. This is something to work on."

THE SAME PAPER has reported that many more people in a certain area might have been killed if they had not had a warning of the second tornado just moments before it struck. The low death toll in one particular area is credited to advance warning.

Billions of dollars are being spent by the United States government to explore the moon, but this expenditure can hardly help the residents of earth.

Research on weather is, of course, a federal responsibility, because storms do not respect state lines. In fact, neglect to arrange for proper warnings about approaching storms can be blamed on the federal government.

Only a half-billion dollars a year is being appropriated for weather research, and apparently only a very small proportion of this sum is being spent on experiments in weather control. Neither field has evidently received the attention in the past that it deserves.

The whole subject needs investigation, and President Johnson might well have called a conference of scientists and others who might be able to devise ways and means of saving lives in the future.

It's questionable just what he could have learned by the airplane trip over the stricken areas or by his automobile ride through some of the devastated sections.

He was accompanied by governors and congressional delegations in a kind of spectacular manifestation of sympathy but the important task is to find ways of preventing loss of life in the future.

THE PRESIDENT stated at St. Paul, Minn., that he came to the area "to see what the federal government can do to provide promptly and effectively the appropriate assistance available under the established federal programs to assist the families and communities suffering from these natural disasters."

Everybody who knows anything about Washington realizes that this isn't just a presidential task. It's one that concerns various agencies of the government, and the President hardly need give much time to its supervision.

Again and again, the federal government has been of assistance to disaster areas, and it's difficult to see why a presidential trip was necessary to give assurance to the people that they would get the aid which in every sense they were eligible to receive. It's what follows after a section is declared a "disaster area" and how the government really follows through that makes the differences in the votes at subsequent elections.

Down Through The Years

From The Review Files

THIRTY YEARS AGO — George T. Farrell of Lisbon was named president of the Columbiana County Bar Association and Joel H. Sharp of Salem was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

It was announced that Miss Mary Frances McIntosh, a senior, would be crowned May queen during ceremonies at Patterson Field.

TWENTY YEARS AGO—Tom Densmore, a pitcher on the junior baseball team of Glenmoor, hurled a no-hit, no-run game against the Substation nine. Glenmoor won 3-0.

Mrs. Jennie Putman Boston of Ohio Ave., East End, who was making lace at the age of 6, received the title of "mistress of the crochet needle" from her neighbors.

TEN YEARS AGO — Miss Gladys DeBolt was elected chairman of the newly-formed Hospital Twig of the Quota Club.

Bears Vanishing

The great white bears that roam the frozen top of the world are vanishing.

Polar bears have become easy targets for hunters giving chase in airplanes and armed with high-powered, automatic rifles. Polar bear rugs are now in vogue and the magnificent white pelts bring high prices.

With an estimated 10,000 polar bears still surviving, the threat of extinction is not crucial but their numbers have been declining for several decades, the National Geographic Society says.

Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall recently put the Arctic bear on his list of endangered species.

Polar bears are hard to protect because some of them often roam across national boundaries. The species is at home in the Arctic and sub-Arctic regions of Alaska, Norway, Labrador, Russia, Canada, Greenland and Iceland.

The nomadic bear is one of the largest carnivorous animals on earth. Males often weigh more than 1,000 pounds and stand nine feet high. Females are smaller.

Odd Facts

More than half the manufactured products of the United States come from New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio and Michigan.

Soccer Ball, popular in almost all other nations in the world and drawing much larger single-game crowds than any American sport, still is not popular in the United States.

The two animals recorded in the Bible as speaking like human beings are the serpent in Genesis 3, and Balaam's ass in Numbers 22.

Waitresses In California Receive Cover-Up Order

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — California's burgeoning bevy of nearly nude waitresses, models and entertainers got the word today — cover up the bare bosoms.

"Things have gone too far," was the message from Sacramento, the capital.

James O. Reimel, director of the Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control, issued Thursday the cover-up order.

Assemblyman Joe Gonsalves, a Democrat from Artesia and the father of nine sons, has introduced legislation aimed at shutting down establishments where, "the bosoms of any of the female participants are exposed or are covered only by a transparent covering."

Gonsalves would authorize the state to suspend or revoke the liquor license of anyone offering such displays.

Lights would be snuffed out all along San Francisco's famed North Beach strip of night clubs if that were present law. Well-endowed young ladies gyrating to the latest "dance" in topless — and in one case a near-bottomless — bathing suits are features of many shows.

The sights in North Beach rivaled the politicking at the Cow Palace as the center of attention at last July's Republican national convention.

But Thursday, Reimel announced 25 key members of the Broadway Businessmen's Association had agreed to a five-point cleanup.

Henceforth, tops must go on the topless garments and "other garb stressing near nudity is out."

Noontime fashion shows, where models clad in the latest lingerie or waitresses in see-through blouses distract businessmen from their martinis, must really be designed to sell clothes.

Lady entertainers will have to stay on the stage, while the curtains must be drawn on those who've gathered on sidewalks and ogled the girls inside.

"I know this is an area that touches on interference with private business," Reimel said. "But things have gone too far in certain spots and, unless the courts tell us otherwise, we will proceed."

Unions and businessmen go along with the cover-up, he reported, and the rules will be extended statewide.

The first "long" motion picture shown in America was "Queen Elizabeth," with Sarah Bernhardt in the title role, which had its premiere in New York City on July 12, 1912.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Sleeveless Styles Spotlight The Arms

Why is it that upper arms tend to run to fat, or droop and lose their grip on youth at such an early age? At this season Eve's daughters are exercised about arms, especially since designers have snatched away sleeves.

Let's analyze a r m

and try to catch on to the trick of keeping the arm muscles beautifully toned. When a small boy flexes his arm impressively and says, "Feel my muscles," he's showing off the biceps, the muscle on the front of the upper arm. It's the biceps that performs most routine tasks of everyday living, which is why this part of the arm stays fairly firm.

ON THE contrary, the triceps, the muscle which flanks the back of the upper arm, gets very little action. So it tends to become flabby and droop as time goes by. Toneless muscles lack shape and this, plus the down-pull of gravity, brings on the sag. Since any soft muscle area makes a convenient parking place for fat, upper arms accumulate unwelcome fat when weight goes up.

The science of muscular movement reveals that loss of the triceps destroys a person's ability to extend the elbow forcibly. So there is your exercise cue. . . strike out. Extend the elbow briskly and forcibly. Try it with your right arm, thrusting out at chest level, and at the same time feel with the left hand the muscle action on the underside of the right arm. It's smack through the flabby area. Now to answer your other questions: Will reducing help to slim the arms? Certainly, but to tone the muscles and prevent sagging, back up dieting with special arm exercises. Can thin, droopy arms be made round and firm? Of course, but here again the remedy is the right kind of exercise. Exercise normalizes and restores tone and gives shape to the muscles.

A SURPRISINGLY small amount of exercise will bring marked improvement, provided the action is precisely in the groove and taken regularly.

A grandmother passed along this good bouncing exercise. The only equipment needed is a rubber ball, such as a "live" tennis ball. The exercise: Hold arms out in front of chest and bounce the ball up to this level . . . using both hands and bouncing 100 times a minute. Our model claims this exercise tones upper arms, takes fat off the back, and helps to streamline the midsection. Well, what more could one ask?

Send stamped, self-addressed, long envelope for Isometric Exercises. Address request to Ida Jean Kain, care of The Review. Postcard requests cannot be answered.

Series Of Bids Filed

City Hall Project Draws 5 Offers

Five concerns filed offers ranging from $2,840 to $12,440 Thursday afternoon with the Board of Control repairs to the exterior of City Hall, including pointing and caulking of the stone walls and renovating the concrete foundation.

Mayor Merrill D. Hall and Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey, comprising the board, took the offers under advisement for evaluation.

Tri - State Waterproofing Co. of Pittsburgh submitted the apparent low offer of $2,840.

THE OTHERS, in ascending order, were: Keystone Waterproofing Co. of Latrobe, $4,685; General Maintenance Contractors of Marion, $5,113; Ohio Building Restoration Co. of Toledo, $7,700; and Joseph Graciano Co. of Pittsburgh, $12,440.

The Toledo and Marion firms, however, did not file certified checks for a percentage of their offers, as the city's call for bids required. They entered "proposal bonds" and "bid bonds" - sureties furnished by underwriters. The city's legal advertisement for bids required a certified check for 5 per cent of the offer to guarantee the bidder would execute a contract if his bid was accepted.

IN ONE OF the busiest bid-opening sessions in many years, the mayor and director also opened offers on: Purchase of two new police cruisers; 40,000 gallons of oil to lay dust on unimproved streets and a continuation of the hospital and surgical insurance program for municipal employees.

The cruiser bids were accepted in two ways - without trade-ins or with a trade of a 1963 Chevrolet and a 1963 Plymouth now used as cruisers.

Bob White Ford of Wellsville entered the apparent low no-trade price, offering two 1965 Ford Custom V-8 four - door sedans at $2,299 each or a combined total of $4,598. The firm did not submit an alternate bid allowing for trade - ins.

Mike Turk, Inc., of E. 6th and Walnut Sts. offered a no-trade price of $4,660, or $2,330 each, for two 1965 Chevrolet Biscayne four - door sedans with 8-cylinder motors.

In an alternate bid, Turk offered $300 for the two old cars, or a net trade - in price of $4,360.

East Liverpool Central Service, Inc., of W. 7th St. filed a no - trade price of $2,450 each, or a total of $4,900, on two 1965 Plymouth Belvedere four - door sedans with V-8 motors.

It quoted a trade - in price of $4,500 in all, or $2,250 for each new auto.

Each bidder specified it would furnish the heavy duty equipment required by the city.

THREE CONCERNS filed widely-varying offers on the road oil. One concern stipulated four prices, depending upon containers and types of delivery.

Do-Mar Oil Co. of Lisbon offered the oil at 9.75 cents a gallon, explaining the total would be $3,900. It made no stipulations as to delivery.

Robert Snyder of Hanoverton offered the material at 9.9 cents a gallon delivered to the city's storage tank at E. 2nd and Washington Sts. in 5,000-gallon lots.

The four varying prices were filed by the Allied Oil Co. of Cleveland. It offered the oil at 8.75 cents a gallon FOB its terminal in Wellsville or 9.25 cents delivered to East Liverpool.

It quoted a price of 9.75 cents a gallon FOB Wellsville in less than truckload lots. The firm bid 11 cents a gallon for delivery of the oil FOB Wellsville in the city's drums.

ASSOCIATED Hospital Services, Inc., of Youngstown, which now holds the contract, submitted the apparent low bid for continuation of hospital and surgical insurance for city employees and their families.

It bid $6.27 per month for the employees' insurance and $13.40 a month for dependents' insurance, a total of $19.67.

Travelers Insurance Co. of Youngstown filed an offer of $6.39 per month for the employee insurance and $15.24 a month for dependents, a combined total of $21.63.

As a fringe benefit, the city pays the monthly premiums for its employees' insurance. Those who wish coverage for dependents pay the additional premiums via payroll deductions.

Associated Hospital Services furnishes coverage under the Blue Cross and Blue Shield plans. About 161 appointive city employees are effected.

A breakdown of its quotations showed $4.85 for employee hospital insurance, $1.40 for surgical service, $10.90 for dependents' hospitalization coverage and $2.40 for dependents' surgical service.

In the current contract, the rate for a single employee is $5.75 a month. The family plan costs $18.63 per month.

It was the second round of bids on the employees' insurance. The administration opened the first offers in late February, but later rejected all bids to seek new offers under broadened specifications.

City employees, in a mass meeting advised the administration they wished to continue coverage with Associated Hospital Services, although its bid was not low in the first round.

DiSalle Kin Burned Seriously In Viet Raid

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - Capt. Robert E. Watkins, son-in-law of former Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, is in serious condition in Viet Nam with burns suffered in a Viet Cong raid at an air base he commanded.

Biggest Rush Marks Close Of Tax Filing

Besieged by person who waited until the last minute to file returns, the city income tax office Thursday experienced the heaviest rush since it was opened in 1958, Commissioner D. G. Wilkinson said today.

Although no totals are available, "it probably was the biggest day cash-wise and from the standpoint of returns arriving through the mail," Wilkinson said.

Yesterday at 4:30 p. m. was the deadline for East Liverpool residents whose income is not subject to withholding at the source to file final returns on 1964 earnings and estimates of 1965 income. The 1965 returns were required to be accompanied by a payment representing at least 25 per cent of the estimated tax.

Although the office was crowded throughout the day, no one was required to wait more than 30 minutes to file his returns, Wilkinson said. Twenty-five still were waiting when closing time arrived at 4:30. The staff asked the patrons to step inside, then locked the door and processed the final returns.

Wilkinson and his staff of woman clerks worked until 8, leaving then to attend Maundy Thursday church services, he explained.

Wilkinson said a huge mass of mail was delivered yesterday and another heavy accumulation arrived this morning. Most of the envelopes contain tax returns, he said.

The staff has been so busy processing returns filed in person that "not a piece of mail has been processed since last Friday," he said.

Wilkinson estimated it will be about a week before the staff works its way through the returns and then compiles figures on the collection. It will cross-check to find which persons did not file returns and then mail them reminders.

Loans For Rural Families Are Offered Under '64 Act

Special help is now available for Hancock, Brooke, Marshall and Ohio County rural families who need a small amount of capital to increase their limited incomes, Boyd M. Turner Jr., county supervisor for the Farmers Home Administration, said today.

The loans are authorized by the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964, which includes a rural credit service involving $35 million in federal funds.

Economic opportunity loans may be made in amounts up to $2,500 to finance small family businesses, trades, services and farming enterprises. All of the loans bear 4 1/2 per cent interest.

Rural families eligible for economic opportunity loans are those confronted with such problems as limited resources, low incomes, indebtedness beyond their present ability to repay, lack of management skills and an unsatisfactory level of living.

To help overcome these problems and assure success of new businesses or farming enterprises, borrowers will be provided with intensive and continuing management aid by local county supervisors of the Farmers Home Administration.

Huntley and Jennings will begin their newscasting from London that same evening.

In all likelihood, additional live programming out of Europe via Early Bird will be announced shortly. The amount of it will depend in part upon how much use of the satellite Comsat will allow the networks during its initial test period.

HOW MUCH continued use the TV chains will make of the Bird will depend in part on how costly the commercial rates are which Comsat is yet to set on use of the facility. The network news people make no bones about their eagerness to originate daily newscasts out of London if they can afford it.

On the other hand, telephone interests also are interested in using Early Bird, and its channels are limited.

Live TV from Europe via satellite is no novelty, of course, but Early Bird's predecessors, the Telstar and Relay satellites, permitted only brief orbital

After The Resurrection: Triumph Followed Despair

Saul, 'The Enforcer,' Surrenders

Christianity began with a strange combination, a Crucifixion and a Resurrection. Its original adherents also moved in this colliding zone of lancing shadows and unextinguishable light. Only in the grim valley of destruction did the great missionary - evangelist, Paul, realize his exalting destiny. The following, last of a series, about the aftermath of Easter, deals with Paul and the first Christian martyr, Stephen.

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

The witnesses peeled off their tunics, passed them to Saul and picked up large stones to heave at the man below. At the bottom of the rough hollow, Stephen stood looking up in dismay.

An agitated crowd ringed the pit, smiting their chests and shrieking denunciations. "Blasphemer! Anomus!" Most of them were of Jerusalem's Greek-speaking Alexandrian and Cilician congregations. "Blasphemer! Transgressor!"

Saul, himself a Cilician, reared in the cosmopolitan city of Tarsus and a brilliant, forceful young rabbi, felt the blood pounding at his temples. The defiler had to be destroyed.

He nodded. The first stones flew.

UNDER ROMAN rule, the occupation government could impose capital punishment in the form of stoning, burning, beheading or strangling, subject in each case to confirmation by Rome's procurator.

Stoning had been ordered for the nimble-tongued disrupter, Stephen, a functionary of the notorious brotherhood of "Christos."

A corrupting menace, Saul adjudged. A gross offense against hallowed tradition and purity of faith. The land festered with wayward cults, and righteousness demanded that they be purged from the nation's sacred patrimony.

That duty lay on him like a coat of nails, driving him to the utmost in devotion, dedication and discipline. He would spare no effort to cleanse and preserve God's household.

Yet he moaned as the barrage began on the condemned Stephen.

Three years or more had gone by since the man of Nazareth was crucified, a strictly Roman punishment, and the feverish impressions about him had continued to spread and infiltrate families and institutions.

TO SAUL, it was a poisonous malady, eroding the vitals of Judaism, a macabre contradiction about a common Galilean who died shamefully, obviously abandoned by God, yet elevated in His ignominy to Messianic status.

The infection had been scattered by travelers to many surrounding cities, where cells multiplied, and in Jerusalem itself, it had spilled beyond Aramaic and Hebrew-speaking groups to Greek-language synagogues.

In one of these, the eloquent and literate Stephen had aroused antagonism by his claims that a "Holy Spirit" loosed by the "Christos" now transcended nation and rite. He struck at the very ramparts of the nation's sacred heritage.

A crowd hunted him out and dragged him before the court. Condemned, he was hustled out of the city to the stoning pit.

And Saul, whose name in its Roman version was Paul, stood by as a deputy for the court to see the execution carried out. Thereafter, he pursued his determined, impassioned drive to reinforce treasured orthodoxy, and stifle departures from it.

Scripture recounts: "Saul laid waste the church, and entering house after house, he dragged off men and women and committed them to prison."

YET ALL the while, anxiety and compassion raked his conscience. He pitied even as he punished. He shuddered at the obnoxiousness of these Jesus believers. His great teacher, Gamaliel, disapproved. He could no longer sleep. His headaches increased.

The persecution had dispersed many heretics to outlying regions. He, too, would go elsewhere. He would get away. But he would not give up. The Book of Acts relates:

"Saul, still breathing threats and murder against the disciples of the Lord, went to the high priest and asked him for letters to the synagogues at Damascus" to arrest deviants and bring them bound to Jerusalem for trial.

While on his way there, in the vortex of his desolating struggle, he had his staggering vision of Christ. "Saul, Saul, why do you persecute Me?" And Saul gave in. The thundering enforcer surrendered; the ruler for God became the ruled.

He lay flat on his face, a broken man, and so made whole. "It is no longer I who live," he later wrote, "but Christ who lives in me." In a kind of death he came alive. Shorn of self, he found a greater self. The wrecker, wrecked, was made.

"If any one is in Christ, he is a new creation."

So the strange phenomenon, the night through which breaks the day, the fall which becomes the rising. And Saul, Paul, by whatever name, mounted the long and arduous road lit through the shadows of a cross.

NOT THAT he foreswore his ancestral faith, quite the contrary, cherished it fervently, a Hebrew, a son of Abraham. "I am a Pharisee, the son of a Pharisee," he declared.

But he also was the foremost missionary and advocate of the greatest Hebrew of all. Jesus of Nazareth. Paul roamed the first-century world disseminating on faith in Him and the gift of His life to mankind.

It cost dearly.

It cost Paul.

Five times, he recounted, he was lashed, three times beaten with rods, once stoned, three times shipwrecked, endangered by robbers, by his own people, by Gentiles, by wilderness, hunger, cold, exposure and hardship.

The days were fierce. Less than three decades after Christ Crucifixion, revolution engulfed Judea to be crushed by Rome in vast slaughter and destruction which ended Jewish nationhood for 1,882 years until 1948.

In that period, thousands of Christians and Jews were slain for their faith, in Palestine, Egypt, Rome and elsewhere. In Rome, tradition says, Peter was crucified and Paul beheaded.

IT WAS the kind of fate which Paul had once helped visit on another, Stephen, the outspoken deacon in Jerusalem, the first of the long line of Christian martyrs.

As the stones had rained on him, and his bloodied torn body crumpled toward the ground, his shattered face turned upward and his voice throbbed with awareness of a further door opening before him. "Lord Jesus, receive my spirit."

Then he cried out loudly. "Lord, do not hold this sin against them!" And he died in

Widowed Grandmother, 42, Heads Ohio City Chamber

BLANCHESTER, Ohio (AP)—The old cliché, "It's a man's world," should be tossed out the window with the dishwasher, says a 42-year-old widowed grandmother.

Mrs. Dorothy Clifton should know what she's talking about. Here latest venture into the businessman's world is serving as president of the Blanchester Chamber of Commerce.

"I officiated at my first meeting Tuesday night and it seemed to go very well," Mrs. Clifton said. She was elected the chamber's first woman president recently over department store owner Edgar F. Haines.

Mrs. Clifton can talk with ease about the business world. She is president-general manager of the Fulflo Specialty Co., makers of pressure release and hydraulic valves and specialty pumps.

Mrs. Clifton is not alone in the Blanchester Chamber. Seven of the 56 members are women, including Mrs. Sam Nicely, a director.

As for Chamber projects, Mrs. Clifton is concerned with a problem facing most communities: parking.

"We're trying to buy some properties for offstreet parking and we're already working on our fall festival," she said.

There will be no projects strictly for the women, she noted. "I'll take care of those things in my women's clubs."

Mrs. Clifton became head of the Fulflo Co. after her husband's death in 1955. The company was founded in this Clinton County town of nearly 3,000 in 1922 by her husband, Robert, and his father.

The company employs 25 persons, all men except the office staff.

About her life in the "man's world," Mrs. Clifton said: "My mother always said I should have been a boy. But I kind of like being one of a few women actually running a business. Women should have as much equal opportunity as the men."

Bringing Up A Family

By Dr. GARRY MYERS

Mother Left With Son Has Problems

Some mothers are left to bring up one or more children alone. A few of these mothers may suppose it is harder for them if they have only a boy. An Ohio mother writing the following seems to think this. "Would you consider a series on the situation of a mother alone Dr. Garry Myers with a male child? It is very difficult to have a valid perspective. I am sure that many women who are alone with the responsibility for raising sons would be grateful for the chance to know what you recommend. "For example, if a boy tends to shun away from teasing and fighting—what can his mother (who, being female, has no natural insight into this phenomenon of male childhood) do or not do?"

MY REPLY in part. You have given me a hard assignment. I shall see what I can do with just one article. I doubt whether I know enough to write a series now. Not being a mother myself of any child, girl or boy, I don't have enough personal experience to comprehend the problem wholly. I must write from my observations and from what I have learned from books and from the thousands of letters from parents over the years relating to this matter. A factor in the problem is how the mother was left — by death or divorce of the husband; also the age of the child when either occurred, and how closely the child was attached emotionally to the father. All else being equal, the boy might find it harder to adjust to the loss, by death or divorce, if he were the only child, the only boy.

His making this adjustment will depend somewhat on the mother's adjustment and on the boy's richness of interests, especially at fun with other boys. Whatever his age, beyond one or two, he especially needs to acquire interests and skills which others of his age have and enjoy. If under five he may not have the help of school experiences.

A NURSERY school may be especially desirable; also the nursery department of a Sunday school may provide him with some socializing experiences. For any child, especially an only boy, his mother should attract playmates of his age to the home. As soon as he is old enough, Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts, or other groups for boys, with masculine leadership, have good possibilities. It is fortunate if he then and in his teens attends a church school class taught by a young man. So with adequate normal play and work experience with other boys of his age, and stimulated to engage in sports, his problems with teasing and fighting may be lessened or solved. It is wonderful if a masculine adult neighbor should take an interest in this boy. As he grows older he is more in need of contacts with young men who take an interest in him. It would be fortunate if he has some men teachers in the upper grades, junior and senior high school.

REGARDLESS of the mother's income, the only boy needs careful guidance in the use of money, and in operating on a budgeted allowance. He especially needs practice in caring for his own things and in doing faithfully some regular chores about the home.

From his early years this boy particularly needs wholesome discipline to conform to reasonable home regulations such as a desirable bedtime, limited and wise use of radio and TV, promptness of return from school, and being home at night and off the street.

His mother needs to relax rules and regulations gradually as he proves able to be responsible for his own behavior. She needs to sense his stages of growing up. Most of all, she needs to win his genuine esteem and to enjoy his companionship.

It would be fine if he can be stimulated and guided toward success at school, especially in reading. When homework begins he needs to go at it faithfully every night. If he lags in one or more subjects at school, a tutor might be desirable. Obviously his learning good home-study habits and being home on nights preceeding school days are especially desirable for him.

THE MOTHER who can guide him well in such directions is making the way easier for him and herself.

Driving Permits Are Suspended In Juvenile Cases

John L. McCormick, 17, East Palestine, 15 days for passing on a curve.

Couple Gets Probation In Neglect Of Children

LISBON — An East Palestine area man and woman were placed on probation Thursday by Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin on charges of contributing to the neglect of the woman's four minor children.

James Noel of Negley, pleading guilty to the charge, was placed on probation for three years. Mrs. Regina S. Berry of East Palestine, convicted on the same charge, was given probation for an indefinite time.

The charge alleged she associated with Noel and neglected her children. The court ordered the two not to associate with each other during the probation.

check rather than the certified check required in the city's call for bids to guarantee that the company would execute a contract if it was awarded.

THE MAYOR and director said they wished to give Karpark another opportunity to bid despite the technicality because its offer represented a saving of $2,500 to the city, compared with the Rockwell offer.

That set the stage for the action yesterday.

At a special meeting Wednesday night, five of the six Democratic councilmen declared that the Council planning committee should be given an opportunity to make another study of the meter question. The committee made the initial investigation and recommended the automatic type meter, which Council stipulated in its legislation.

At that time, it was believed generally that Rockwell was the only firm in the U.S. manufacturing an automatic meter. The filing of a bid from a second maker of automatics on March 8 came as a surprise to the administration, Council and even some meter salesmen.

When rejecting the original round of bids in late March, the mayor and director said they had investigated Karpark meters' performances in other cities in Indiana and Ohio and found that officials were satisfied with the devices.

But Councilman James Cunningham read newspaper clippings at the session Wednesday night asserting that cities in Michigan, Oregon and Wisconsin criticized the Karpark meters for malfunctions in wet or cold weather. He also read a clipping from a Florida paper asserting the meters were unsatisfactory.

That's where the debate stands today as the mayor and director continue study of the bids.

THE MAYOR'S office was crowded as Engineer George S. Bloomgren, clerk of the board, read the bids and then handed them to the mayor and director.

Karpark's bid stipulated a gross price of $56.10 for its automatic meter, less a $10 trade-in of the city's 1947 model meters, for a net price of $46.10. The company said its gross offer totals $22,944, but will drop to $18,444 if the city takes advantage of a 5 per cent discount for payment in 30 days. It also offered a 3 per cent discount for payment in 60 days.

Karpark offered its Twinomat (twin head) meters at $103.63, less a $10 trade-in, for a net price of $93.63 each. It said the gross price on the twin head meters is $21,762.30 and the net price figures out to $17,262.30.

It offered delivery in 45 days after receiving the city's contract and instructions on lettering on the heads of the meters.

Rockwell again bid $58 on its Park-O-Meters, less a $6 trade-in, for a net price of $52. It also repeated its offer on twin-head meters — $116, less a $10 trade-in, for a net price of $106. Rockwell offered a 5 per cent discount for payment in either 30 days or 60 days after delivery.

In response to a query from Councilman Donald Hancock, who attended, the board said Karpark did not agree to accept payment for its meters via the so-called "excess revenue" method, which Hancock recommended at the Council meeting Wednesday night.

Under that plan, the city pays to the manufacturer a sum representing the gain in meter receipts each month in the current year, compared to the same month in the preceding year.

Five or six alternative methods of payment were set up in Council's enabling legislation, including the "excess revenue" stipulation which Council recommended the administration follow to avoid depletion of general operating funds. Rockwell offered to accept payment at $500 per month.

BIDS ON manual meters, received but ineligible for consideration, were filed by the Koontz Equipment Co. of Pittsburgh and Hancock Industries of Jackson, Mich.

Koontz offered its Duncar Model BR meter at $50, its Model 60 BR meter at $60.50 and its "duplex" (twin head) meter at $114.50, plus $4.50 for twin mounting yokes. In each instance, it offered a $10 discount for trade-ins on the single manual types and a $20 discount for trade-in of two meters on the twin types.

Hancock Industries offered its Mi-Co SL-800 meters at $59 each, less an $11 trade-in, for a net price of $48. If adapters were used to mount two meters on a single standard, there would be an additional charge of $10 for each two meters, it specified.

As the bid-opening began, the mayor and director said all offers would be held for consideration and evaluation.

Cook spinach, chop and season with butter. Make a "nest" of the spinach on each serving plate; slip a poached egg into the nest. Serve, with buttered toast, for a small - fry lunch.

Accord Sought On Who Selects Longshoremen

CLEVELAND (AP) — Representatives of the Longshoremen's Union meet today with warehouse and dock representatives to work out a permanent agreement on the issue of who selects longshoremen for unloading ships.

A dispute over hiring procedures triggered a three-hour work stoppage Thursday at the Cleveland Stevedore Co. dock at the foot of West 6th Street.

Longshoremen's Local 1317 for many years operated a hiring hall for dock workers. Thursday Cleveland Stevedores gave the union a list of the men it wanted to hire. The longshoremen reportedly balked when a company representative met the workers at the dock gate and began checking off his list of workers as the men came in.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruise —

Dear Gals: I have the most thrilling thing to tell you (and I discovered it quite by accident). We all have our penny-pinching days. (This means that though we find something that's worth $25, we will not spend $2 for it.)

We also have our splurging days. This means that no matter what it costs, we're going to buy it anyway!

Last week I happened to be on one of those tight-fisted penny-pinching days. Even so, when I saw a dress rack with a sign on it that said "Sale! Bargain! $1.99." I just had to stop and look. I saw dresses up to $20 reduced to $1.99! Most of them were cotton.

I NOTICED that they were large sizes! So I said to myself "I wear a size 12 and most of these are 16s, 18s, 20s and 38s! Now if I took this dress, home, I would have to cut it up and completely remake it."

Then, I happened to notice that some of them had pleated skirts! I picked up one dress, and lo and behold, it had four yards of gorgeous material in it. Know what I did?"

I bought that dress! I came home, took my scissors and ripped it apart. There was a long zipper (which would cost me at least 60 cents if I had bought it); tape on the hem and all the buttons and trimming!

I ripped the skirt off the dress and made the most adorable house dress from my favorite pattern. I cut the facings and plaques from the blouse of the dress. I took off the trim and put it on the pockets of my house dress (after all, what's a house dress without pockets?).

THE ZIPPER I did not need, so I saved it for something else. Later I intend to save 60 cents on another dress by using that zipper.

Ladies, always read the ads in your paper and look for the real bargains when you go to town.

Dresses (especially cotton) can be remade into children's clothes, shorts, blouses and even men's sport shirts! There is usually enough material if you find a dress that has lots of pleats.

Some designs and fabrics make darling little girls' clothes.

I could not possibly have bought the material in the skirt of that dress for less than $8. Now I have a beautiful house dress for practically nothing. Besides, remember that zipper I saved? And those pretty buttons for the next garment?

Don't hesitate to look over that bargain counter when you see a sale. It will pay in the long run and always be sure to watch your ads in the paper for them.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I keep a plastic shoe horn near the sink and find it excellent for scraping stubborn food particles from cooking utensils. M.E.

DEAR HELOISE: Here is a suggestion for folks with games and puzzles that come in boxes. We were having trouble with the boxes falling apart... sooner or later the toy or game was short a part or several parts.

Now I glue small pieces of muslin over the corners BEFORE the boxes break! Try it! no more lost pieces. MRS. G.W.L.

Wouldn't a strip of masking or adhesive tape around the corners be simpler? HELOISE.

Good Friday Rites Will Be Memorial To Tornado Dead

BLUFFTON, Ohio (AP) — The traditional Good Friday service here will, instead, serve as a memorial to six victims of the savage Palm Sunday tornado.

Bluffton buries the last of its tornado dead today, then holds the special memorial service.

The last funeral is for 80-year-old Adrian Pifer and his wife, Leota, 75.

Services for others of the state's 54 dead, meanwhile, are continuing.

Two were buried Thursday in Toledo.

At nearby Cairo, 2-year-old Scotty Imms and his infant brother, Andrew, blown out of a car and into a creek, were buried.

Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Imms, did not attend. Both are hospitalized; she is in poor condition.

The last of the dead of Pittsfield, the crossroads community where nine of fifty perished, also will be buried today.

Services are scheduled for the town's grocer, Louis Klier, 51. His son, Donald, a part-time ambulance driver, rushed to Pittsfield Sunday night to help and found his father among the victims.

Memorial services at Pittsfield were discarded so the cleanup pace would not be slowed.

Progress was reported on the war memorial project during a meeting of the Veterans City Council Thursday night at Mayor Merrill Hall's office in City Hall. James Cregar, president, presided.

The goal for the project is $10,000, with $1,600 received to date. Those who wish to donate are asked to send contributions as soon as possible to the Pottery Bank & Trust Co.

It also was announced that anyone who wants names withdrawn from the honor roll list

Additional plans also were discussed for the Memorial Day observance May 31.

Robert Malkin reported that a flag has been given to the Carnegie Library.

The next meeting will be April 29 at 8 p.m. at the VFW building.

Since only five appeared at the two schools for the first round of immunizations which were held on different days, the county Health Department decided on the one-day program.

1,500 Students Hold 'Teach-In' On War In Viet

CLEVELAND (AP) — More than 1,500 young people gathered in Thwing Hall and Harkness Memorial Chapel on the Western Reserve University campus Thursday night for an all-night "teach-in" on the war in Viet Nam.

The program was sponsored by 87 faculty members and employees of Western Reserve and Case Institute of Technology. The audience was made up of students of Greater Cleveland colleges and universities.

"Most of us oppose the war," a spokesman for the sponsoring group said, "but we consider the program to be primarily informal, a 'dialogue.'"

Among those attending the program were several members of groups that support the Vietnamese war. They picketed

Thwing Hall for about 30 minutes and then entered the building, where they were permitted to take part in the discussion.

A WRU official said the university took no official stand on the teach-in, "but the right of these people to hold their meeting is certainly not questioned by us."

Man In Truck Dies

CLEVELAND (AP) — John Hood, 51, was found dead early today in his truck, apparently the victim of a heart attack. Police said the truck ran up over a curb before coming to a stop.

Nixon Says Soviet Racial Bias Worse Than In U.S.

NEW YORK (AP) — Richard M. Nixon, reporting on his recent trip to the Soviet Union, says Negroes there "have a worse lot" than anywhere in the Southern United States.

Racial prejudice in the Soviet Union "is greater than anywhere in the world, and a great many African students are leaving because of it," he says.

The former vice president discussed his impressions of the Soviet Union Thursday night in a departure from his prepared speech before 400 business leaders at the National Industrial Conference Board's first public affairs conference.

Nixon, who contrasted his recent visit to the one he made six years ago as vice president, said there has been "a great growth in racism and race prejudice."

He said there is no single leader in Russia today following the ouster of Premier Nikita Khrushchev. Only 1 man in 25 he questioned acknowledged Khrushchev's existence, he said.

He predicted a strong leader will soon emerge, and Russia then will begin a new challenge to the United States in economics. He said the challenge will not be military or in the field of space and predicted the Soviets will attempt to dominate the world "by means short of war."

Nixon, who spent one day in the Soviet Union, said the economic picture is somewhat brighter than he found it six years ago.

In his prepared speech, Nixon said Americans are developing "a healthy skepticism about the usefulness of big government in modern society."

Fair Housing Legislation 'Trapped' In Committee

By ROBERT E. MILLER

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — So-called fair housing legislation is bogged down in the Ohio Senate Rules Committee without immediate hope of reaching the floor for a vote.

The eight-member committee received the controversial legislation late last month after a Senate subcommittee shaped it from two proposals aimed at banning discrimination in housing.

Five committee votes are needed to place the bill on the legislative calendar and reliable sources have reported it only has four backers.

The three Democratic committee members are known to favor bringing the bill to a floor vote and reports have it that Senate Majority Leader Theodore M. Gray, R-Miami, is willing to go along with them. The Democrats are Sens. Frank W. King, Toledo; Anthony O. Calabrese, Cleveland; and Charles J. Carney, Youngstown.

That would leave Republican Sens. William H. Deddens, Cincinnati; Ross Pepple, Lima; Robert R. Shaw, Columbus; and Fred L. Hoffman, Cincinnati, as the holdouts.

The subcommittee bill is considerably weaker than the one introduced by King with the backing of the Ohio AFL-CIO, of which he is president. It provides exemption for four-unit, owner-occupied dwellings.

House members moved to crack down on what was described as a $135 million a year shoplifting business before the lawmakers went home for week-end recess.

A vote of 106-1 sent to the Senate a measure that would allow suspected shoplifters to be detained inside stores without being searched until police arrive.

Rep. Walter L. White, R-Alen, sponsor of the bill, told representatives that arrests now must be made outside stores or after a suspect has passed the last check-out counter in self-service establishments.

The lower chamber also approved measures calling for annual inspection of school buses operated privately for profit and requiring voter approval of school district consolidations voted by school boards.

The Senate also passed a bill dealing with school buses. Sen. Jim Thorpe, R-Stark, supported the proposal which would substitute identifying numbers on school buses for license plates.

Ohio's 11,000 public and parochial school buses presently receive license plates without charge.

Also passed by the Senate were measures banning municipalities from requiring permits for overweight vehicles already carrying a state permit and clarifying state laws covering sureties of county judges.

The House also approved bills to: —Increase the salary of the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation's research director to $100 a month.

Reps. Jacob A. Shawn, R-Franklin, and Rep. Sam Landess, R-Madison, introduced a joint resolution calling on Congress to abolish the income, gift, and estate taxes and to take the federal government out of all enterprises except those spelled out in the U. S. Constitution.

Katzenbach To Set Rules On News In Crime Cases

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach is expected to announce today a set of rules prescribing how much or how little information federal law officers can give to newsmen about criminal cases.

Katzenbach speaks to the American Society of Newspaper Editors. A discussion of the effect of pretrial publicity on a defendant's right to a fair trial follows.

The Justice Department is known to have been exploring the information problem for months, spurred by the public debate over the outpouring of police evidence concerning the assassination of President Kennedy.

Officials have indicated Katzenbach will seize the opportunity presented by the meeting of 450 editors to present and explain the rules finally drafted for guidance of all the department's agents, lawyers, prosecutors and investigators.

The editors' society also has been studying the free press-fair trial question. Two days ago a special ASNE committee declared its opposition to any curbs, voluntary or otherwise, which would black out wide areas of information between arrest and trial.

The ASNE report said the press has no wish to conduct

"trial by newspaper," and said public knowledge of the circumstances serves frequently to further justice, not impede it.

To suppress information from the moment of arrest until the trial, it said, would "withdraw the essential safeguard of public awareness and scrutiny from the processes of justice." The ASNE board of directors endorsed the finding.

The report rejected specifically a proposal of the Warren Commission that the press accept a professional code of conduct. Such a code could be "more harmful than the evil complained of," the ASNE group said.

The editors also disputed the argument of the Warren Commission that "neither the press nor the public had a right to be contemporaneously informed" by police or prosecutors about the evidence which was being amassed against Lee Harvey Oswald after Kennedy's assassination.

Whereas the Warren body held that Oswald probably could not have obtained a fair trial after the disclosures, the editors said concealment of the facts about him, in the time of national crisis, "would have been a course fraught with the greatest dangers."

MOSQUITOES—MAN'S ATTRACTIVE POWER

Q. If there is just one mosquito anywhere around it will bite me. Do some people just naturally attract mosquitoes?

A. Individuals show marked differences in attractiveness to mosquitoes. These differences are based in part on air temperature, moisture and color of the skin, age, perfumes or scents used, and certain body conditions. For example, women change in attractiveness to mosquitoes during the month, the change being related to the amount of certain hormones being elaborated by the body at any given time.

'RHUBARB LEAVES

Q. Are rhubarb leaves poisonous?

A. Yes. A physician in Germany recently reported the occurrence of near-fatal illness in two children who ate rhubarb leaves. Both youngsters required hospital treatment.

Answers appearing in these columns are of necessity brief and general and do not necessarily reflect the opinion of all physicians. Remember—the diagnosis and treatment of disease is the function of the patient's personal physician.

Toronto To End Relations . . .

Another neighboring school apparently has broken off athletic relations with East Liverpool, and others may follow.

This was indicated at a meeting held earlier this week at Wellsville, with three area schools represented.

Toronto High School officials announced the school will end any athletic competition with East Liverpool as the result of a dispute over the scheduling of a basketball game for next season.

Wellsville already had announced its intentions to halt future athletic relations after the grid relationship was ended when East Liverpool decided to drop Wellsville from the football schedule.

Toronto, Beaver Local and Wellsville were represented at the meeting and other area schools were invited, but did not send a representative.

THE MEETING called by Wellsville officials, found the representatives of the schools agreeing that "East Liverpool hadn't shown the proper courtesy in scheduling agreements."

East Liverpool announced in January it would drop Wellsville in football. Wellsville officials felt this was a late date for such a decision, since a contract had been sent to East Liverpool in October.

Wellsville has filled its open date (Oct. 8) with Steubenville Big Red, while East Liverpool still is looking for an opponent.

East Liverpool attempted to change a date in basketball with Toronto for next season.

Toronto officials said East Liverpool only would play Toronto in the opening game of the season and felt ELHS officials were issuing an ultimatum. This brought on the decision to end athletic relations in all sports on the varsity, reserve and junior high levels, the same action taken by Wellsville several weeks ago.

BEAVER LOCAL made no decision on the future athletic relations with East Liverpool, but will discuss the issue at an Athletic Association meeting. In the meantime, all contracts with East Liverpool, which include freshman and varsity football games and a baseball game for next season, will be honored.

East Liverpool High School Principal Carl Pelini said, "I did not know of the meeting, but if there is any resentment I would be glad to talk it over and discuss the problems with the schools involved."

Athletic director Bob McNea is out of town, attending spring football practice at the University of Maryland and University of Virginia.

Pelini pointed out that the football series with Wellsville was ended because East Liverpool wanted an extra home game for next year and didn't want to continue a home-and-home series.

Wellsville and Toronto have been long and friendly rivals over the years. We do not like to see athletic relations broken off.

Good local rivals sometimes are essential, especially when it comes to gate receipts. Toronto was East Liverpool's best gate in basketball last season. The Potters usually double the gate receipts in basketball and football when they play at Wellsville, according to Don Lowe, Wellsville's faculty manager.

Perhaps a meeting, with all parties involved, could be held in the near future and some of the problems ironed out.

Vanlier Picks Cincinnati . . .

Apparently Ohio schools will reap the harvest from Midland High's state championship team.

Sim Hill, the All-American 6-6 cager, has signed a letter of intent at Bowling Green and probably will wind up at the Mid-American school.

His teammate, Ron Brown, also has his eye on Bowling Green, and this seems to be the spot for him, although he has not made a final commitment.

Norm Vanlier, the "quarterback" of the Midland five, told us Thursday he will attend Cincinnati University.

A fine quarterback in football, Vanlier will shun the gridiron sport and stick strictly to basketball.

Cincinnati's new head coach Tay Baker, who succeeded Ed Jucker, was quite impressed with Vanlier when he saw the backcourt ace perform in the WPIAL finals against Aliquippa.

Baker stayed on Vanlier's trail and finally signed him. Norm should fit like a kid glove into the Cincinnati system, which has had some outstanding guards. Norm will visit Cincinnati early next week.

WHAT ABOUT the coach? With a state championship team, offers have been extended to Hank Kuzma, who masterminded the Midland club to the title.

Hank admittedly has several offers from high school and colleges.

When George King resigned as head coach at West Virginia to take a similar post at Purdue, some speculation began that West Virginia would be interested in Kuzma.

We have talked with several persons close to WVU and is in their feeling that the next coach will be someone known better by officials at Morgantown. Hank's name has not been mentioned so far, according to them.

Perhaps Kuzma will remain at Midland. The Leopards already have scheduled Schenley High for next season. That game will be Dec. 21.

Kuzma reported that Midland has several open dates in basketball to complete the 1965-66 schedule.

The dates are Nov. 24 to 26, Jan. 4, 18, 28 or 29 and Feb. 1 or 15. Anyone interested may contact Kuzma by writing or phoning 643-3417.

This 'N That In Sports . . .

IVAN TONCIC, the ex-Midland and Pitt quarterback, will be with the Wheeling Ironmen next season.

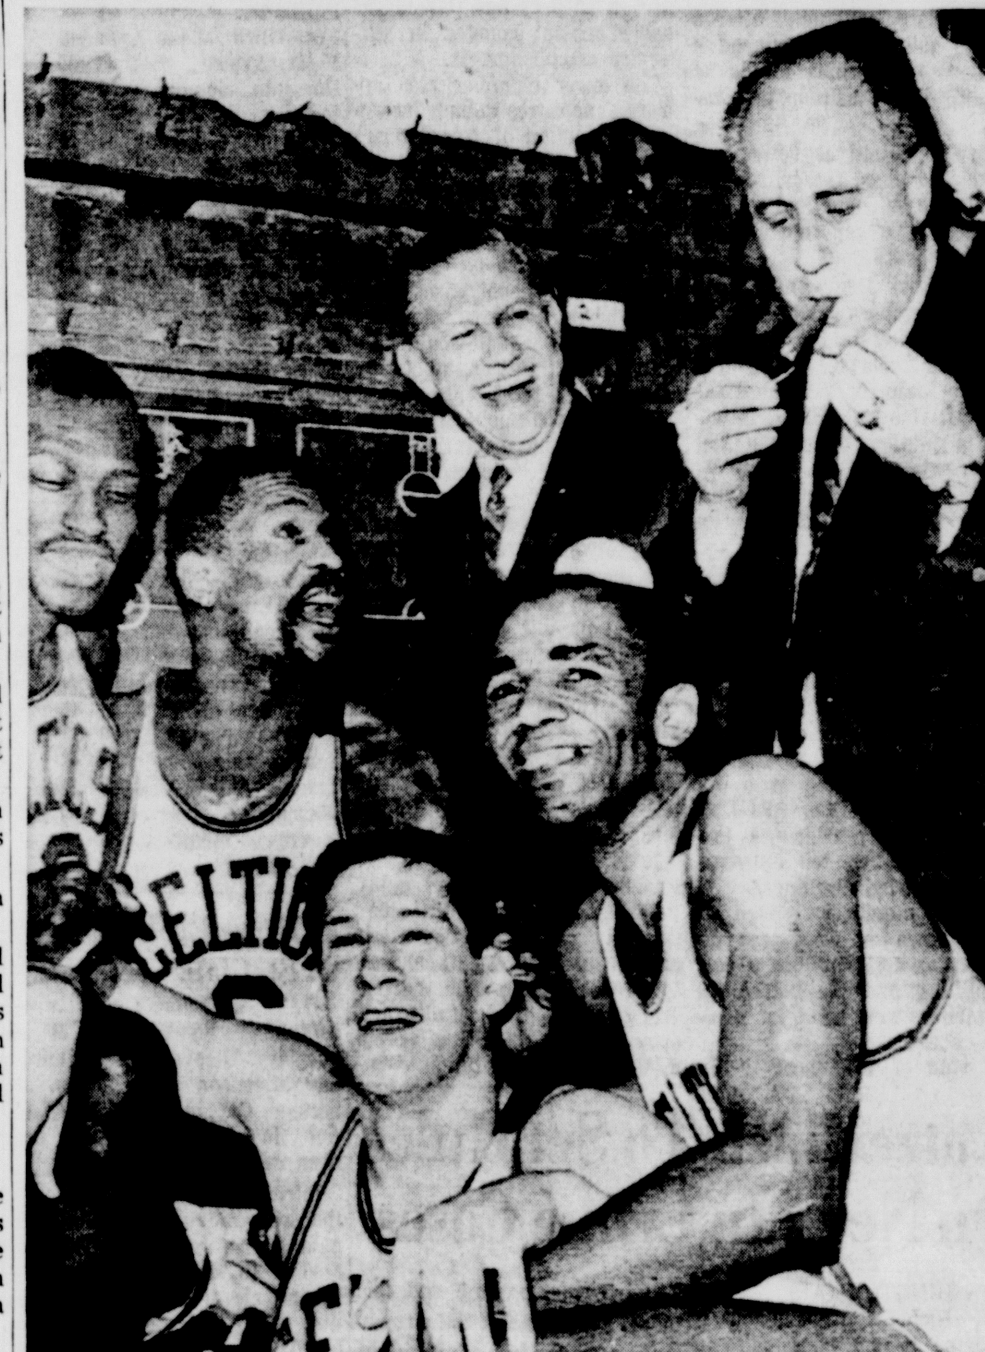

Toncic's career with the professional club was feared ended after he suffered a knee injury last season, but he has signed his 1965 contract and will be ready when the team goes into training at West Liberty State College in mid-July.

Another area football star to sign again with Wheeling is John Henry Martin of Wellsville, who made quite an impression on Ohio Valley fans last season.

Havlicek Makes Key Interception

Boston Wins In Thriller For 9th Straight Crown

BOSTON (AP) — "I couldn't believe it when Johnny Havlicek got that ball. I couldn't believe it. I lost my voice."

Thus did Boston Coach Red Auerbach, caloused veteran of 19 years in the National Basketball Association, describe the 110-109 victory over Philadelphia Thursday night which gave his Celtics a ninth straight Eastern Division playoff crown.

Havlicek's interception of a pass-in for what was to be Philadelphia's winning basket and a guy wire supporting the temporary basket were the features of a high basketball drama.

Boston, which opens the title series here against Los Angeles Sunday afternoon in quest of a seventh world championship in a row, never had it tougher.

Auerbach called it "one of the greatest victories I've ever had because Philadelphia was a great team."

The Celtics were emotionally drained and could not bring themselves to look ahead to the Lakers. They generally agreed the five seconds before the final buzzer were the longest of their lives.

Here's how it happened. Boston led 110-107 when Sam Jones, game high scorer with 37 points, misread the clock and the 24 second limit ran out. The Celtics led Wilt Chamberlain go to the basket uncontested for his 30th point, a dunk.

There were five seconds left. Boston captain Bill Russell, forgetting himself, took the ball out of bounds, jumped in the air to launch his pass-in and saw it carom back out of bounds off the guy wire.

Philadelphia, with possession, took time out, set up a play—and then Havlicek pilfered Hal Greer's pass-in.

"Sam Jones is a great player, he knows what to do with the ball," said Philadelphia Coach Dolph Schayes. "But Havlicek won the game for them. He made the key shots and then made the steal."

Chamberlain had the edge in scoring 30-15 and rebounds 32-29 while arch-rival Russell was ahead in blocked shots 6-1 and assists 8-2.

Burgess followed with his hit to right field, and then J. C. Martin singled home a run, giving the White Sox a 1-1 tie.

Schoendienst must be starting to wonder about that fact even though he was there — as a coach — when St. Louis defeated the New York Yankee in the 1964 World Series.

For the rookie manager still seeks his first victory after Cincinnati walloped St. Louis 10-4 Thursday night.

The defeat left the Cardinals with three straight defeats after an opening-day tie, making them the only winless team in the majors. It also left the big four of their pitching staff with a horrendous 7.36 earned-run average.

As the 1965 baseball season nears its first weekend, the Cardinals haven't looked anything like the team that came from 6½ games back and won the National League pennant in the final two weeks of last season.

Even the New York Mets are ahead of St. Louis. The Mets edged Houston 5-4 in 10 innings, marking the earliest they've won a game in their four-year existence.

The Braves, opening their final season in Milwaukee, whipped Chicago 5-1 in the only other NL game. Rain washed out the San Francisco-Philadelphia and Los Angeles-Pittsburgh games.

Two of the Reds' hits off Bob Purkey were home runs. Vada Pinson clouted a three-run blast that capped a four-run uprising in the third inning, and Gordy

Coleman unloaded a grand slam in the fifth.

John Tsitouris limited the Cardinals to five hits, two of them run-scoring doubles by Ken Boyer and Dick Groat in the third and another Curt Flood's homer in the eighth.

The Mets won their first game on Bobby Klaus' 10th-inning homer off Claude Raymond after Jim Wynn tied the game for Houston with a two-run homer in the ninth. In their first three seasons, the Mets lost nine, five and four games before winning.

Bob Sadowski held the Cubs to four hits and ignited a three-run Brave outburst in the third with an infield single. The Milwaukee pitcher also figured in a later run with a sacrifice bunt. Ernie Banks homered for Chicago in the fifth.

Daniels Misses Bid For No-Hitter

Keane Achieves First Win With Yanks As Angels Fall

Johnny Keane must have known something when he quit the St. Louis Cardinals.

Why, the season's four days old, the Cardinals are the only team in the majors without a victory and Keane's New York Yankees already have posted their first triumph.

Keane, who managed the Cardinals to their World Series triumph over the Yankees last season, acquired victory No. 1 as an American League manager when the Yankees whipped the Los Angeles Angels 4-0 Thursday night.

It was Keane's first triumph in three games as Yankee head man — and the guy who got it for him is an old favorite, Mel Stottlemire. The young right-hander was the losing pitcher in the seventh game of the World Series as Keane and the Cardinals whipped the Yankees.

While the Yankees were winning their first game, Washington's Bennie Daniels made a serious bid for the season's first no-hitter in a 3-1 victory over the Chicago White Sox, but Smoky Burgess broke it up with a pinch-hit single with two out in the eighth inning.

Elsewhere, unbeaten Detroit made it three in a row by beating Minnesota 6-4 and Kansas City whipped Cleveland 7-3. Baltimore and Boston were not scheduled.

Stottlemire kept seven Angel hits well scattered while receiving more than enough support from Roger Maris, who slammed a homer and a single and drove in two runs. Stottlemire, supported by three doublings, walked none and struck out four while permitting only one Angel to reach third base.

Marcelino Lopez, acquired by Los Angeles in the Bo Belinsky trade, allowed the Yankees only five hits in eight innings but contributed to his own downfall with three walks.

Daniels, who shut out the White Sox twice during the last month of the 1964 season, faced 22 men before a ball was hit out of the infield. Then, with two out in the eighth, Ron Hansen's slow roller skipped through the legs of shortstop Ed Brinkman for an error instead of the third out.

Burgess followed with his hit to right field, and then J. C. Martin singled home a run, giving the White Sox a 1-1 tie.

Daniels exited for a pinch hitter in the ninth but not before Frank Howard and Willie Kirkland had put him ahead by crashing consecutive homers off Hoyt Wilhelm.

The Tigers shot past the Twins on homers by Norm Cash and Al Kaline. Kaline's two-run homer in the seventh snapped a 4-4 tie created by Cash's three-run shot in the fifth.

Dave Wickersham, touched for seven hits by Minnesota over the first three innings, allowed only two more in the ninth and grabbed the victory.

Yesterday's Stars

BATTING — Bert Campaneris, Athletics, stroked a double and three singles, driving in two runs and scoring one in Kansas City's 7-3 victory over Cleveland.

PITCHING — Bennie Daniels, Senators, hurled no-hit ball until Smoky Burgess singled with two out in the eighth inning and allowed only two hits before leaving for a pinch hitter in Washington's 3-1 triumph over Chicago.

The last National Leaguer to hit 50 home runs in one season was Willie Mays of the then New York Giants who had 51 in 1955.

Snyder Will Bow Out As OSU Track Mentor

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — White-haired Larry Snyder, member of Ohio State University's athletic staff for 40 years, makes his final home appearance as track coach Saturday.

Head coach of the Buckeye thinclads since 1931, Snyder bows out as host to the annual Ohio State Relays, in which some 500 collegians and 300 high schoolers will compete.

Snyder, as captain and stand-out hurdler for the Buckeyes, participated in the Relays inaugural in 1924. He coached the U.S. Olympic track team to victory in Rome in 1960.

Seven Western Conference schools, along with Notre Dame, Western Michigan, Pittsburgh, Central State, and Ohio teams from the Mid-American and Ohio Conferences will be in Saturday's field.

Among the individual stand-outs are Ernie Soudek, Austria's Olympic discus thrower from Michigan; Trenton Jackson and Mike Nauta of Illinois. In the century and 880-yard events, respectively; pole vaulter Wilbert Davis of Indiana, and jumpers Mike Bowers and James Garrett of Michigan State.

New records are expected from Notre Dame in the distance medley relay; from Michigan State or Western Michigan in the shuttle hurdle relay; and from any of a half-dozen quartets in the mile relay.

Jim Albrecht of Northwestern, former North Olmsted, Ohio, high school star, is given a chance to crack the relays pole vault mark of 15 feet, one-half inch set in 1954 by Don Laz of Illinois.

New Zealand Trotter Wins Yonkers Pace

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP) — Yonkers Raceway's $100,000 International Pace, which threatened to awhile Thursday night to turn into an all-American affair when two horses from Down Under were scratched, finally developed into an outstanding triumph for New Zealand's Smoke Cloud.

Bred in New Zealand, owned by Noel Simpson, a former New Zealander now living in England and driven by American Billy Houghton, the 7-year-old Smoke Cloud was in front all the way. He finished the 1 1/2 miles a neck in front of Meadow Skipper, the short-priced favorite from Norman Woolworth's Clearview Stable of Winthrop, Maine.

Cold Front was another 1 1/2 lengths back in third place with Cardigan Bay, a New Zealander racing in American interests, fourth; Bengazi Hanover Fifth, and Irvin Paul sixth.

The field was reduced to six when Australia's Pacing Lawn turned up with a swollen neck and New Zealand's Safe Return developed lameness in his right front leg while in the paddock.

Track Stars Eye Marks In Kansas Meet

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Meet records by Texas A&M's Randy Matson in the discus, by Southern Illinois or Missouri in the university sprint and by New Mexico's Clarence Robinson in the broad jump were forecast for today's seven-event card in the 40th Kansas Relays. Finals in the other 19 events will be held Saturday. Preliminaries in most of these will come today.

Matson's 201-5 1/2 in a dual meet Wednesday night was a sophomore. The world discus collegiate record. His next best throws are 189-1 1/2 and 188-8.

These are well beyond the meet record of 178-1 set in 1957 by Kansas' Al Oerter, a three-time Olympic champion and former world record holder.

Matson will try Saturday to better his own world shot put record of 67-11 1/4, set a week ago. He's likely to get the first 70-foot throw in track history, considering he's only 19 and a

Bold Lad To Try Wood Memorial

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Bold Lad, winner of his last eight starts and never worse than second in 11 trips to the post, seeks to solidify his position as the Kentucky Derby favorite with a victory in the $75,000-added Wood Memorial at Aqueduct Saturday.

The 1 1/4 miles of the Wood is the final Eastern prep for the May 1 running of the classic for 3-year-olds at Churchill Downs. Lucky Debonair, the second Derby choice, was beaten a neck Thursday by lightly regarded Bugler in the $10,000 Forerunner Purse at Keeneland. The Forerunner was Lucky Debonair's first start since winning the Santa Anita Derby March 6. The time for the seven furlongs was 1:24 2/5.

Bold Lad, a son of Bold Ruler from the Wheatley Stable, has raced only once this year after being plagued with popped splints in his front legs. That was two weeks ago when he beat four older horses in a six-furlong sprint.

Manuel Ycaza rides Bold Lad Saturday the place of the suspended Braulio Baeza.

Ten others, six of them eligible for the Kentucky Derby, were expected to be entered today, making the value of the race $92,150 with $59,897 to the winner.

One will be Ogden Phipps' Dapper Dan, a stablemate of Bold Lad and second to Isidor's Bieber's Flag Raiser in the one mile Gotham two weeks ago.

Flag Raiser, a speed horse with unknown distance ability, also will try for the Wood.

In addition Flag Raiser, trainer Herch Jacobs will saddle Isle of Greece and Turn to Reason.

Dapper Delegate, making his first start since winning the Louisiana Derby, and Hail to All, round out the Derby eligibles in the Wood. Seaman, Gallant Lad, Sum Up and Duc de Great are expected to complete the field.

Golden Gate Fields also has a race for 3-year-olds in the 1 1/4 miles for the $50,000-added California Derby. But only six of the 14 entries are eligible for the Kentucky Derby and it would take an outstanding performance to warrant a trip to Louisville.

With 14 starters, the California Derby will be worth $71,150 with $39,900 to the winner.

The Derby eligibles are Carpenter's Rule, winner of one division of the Trial; Gummo, a stakes winner on both coasts; Now Buck, Arksoni, Charger's Kin and Nu Ribot.

The probable favorite is Nasharco, who won one division of the recent California Derby Trial in a sensational 1:34 2/5 for one-mile.

Chicago Wins Stanley Cup Playoff, 4-2

DETROIT (AP) — Rival coaches Billy Reay and Sid Abel agreed Thursday night that the Detroit Red Wings' surge to the National Hockey League's regular season championship took a lot out of the team.

"We reached our peak a little too early," Abel said after watching the Black Hawks thump his Detroit team, 4-2, in the deciding game of the Stanley Cup semifinal playoffs.

The Red Wings won 12 and tied another of their last 15 games and won the title by four points.

"It takes a lot out of a team to win the regular season championship," Reay echoed. "I said that last year but no one would listen to me. I said the Red Wings breezed in to finish fourth while we were in a fight for first. They beat us because they were fresher."

"This year, and especially tonight, we just wore them down," Reay concluded.

The Red Wings took a 2-0 lead on first-period goals by Norm Ullman and Gordie Howe.

And, while Stan Mikita and Eric Nesterenko notched goals in the last period to decide the issue, the two coaches agreed the turning point came in the second stanza.

Reay said Doug Mohns' score-tying goal with less than two minutes remaining turned the tide in Chicago's favor.

Abel said Bobby Hull's marker, his eighth of the series, while the Red Wings were playing two men short, gave the Black Hawks the lift they needed.

"It was a good series to win, and a hard one to lose," Reay offered.

The Black Hawks, who last won the coveted Stanley Cup in 1960-61, will be playing in their first final in three years.

Montreal, which plays host in the first two games of the best-of-7 final starting Saturday, last appeared when it captured the Cup in 1959-60.

Vindicator To Start Full Editions Monday

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — The Youngstown Vindicator, hit by a Newspaper Guild strike 242 days ago, plans to return to its regular schedule of editions Monday. The newspaper had nearly normal circulation Thursday for the first time since the strike started last Aug. 18. One edition was printed and 75,000 copies were distributed.

The Youngstown local of the American Newspaper Guild struck the Vindicator over an initial contract for about 40 outside circulation department employees. Supervisory personnel continued publication during the strike.

Armco Steel Co. Reports Record Quarterly Sales

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Armco Steel Corp., about ready to start on a $250 million expansion program at its Middletown headquarters, has reported record sales for the first quarter of 1965.

President Logan T. Johnston reported to shareholders Thursday that sales for the first three months were 304,978,144 on shipments of 1,483,317 tons of steel mill products, with earnings of $25,798,380 or $1.74 per share.

Johnston said a meaningful comparison was not possible with the first quarter of last year when Armco's sales were $238,403,224 on shipments of 1,114,007 tons of steel mill products with earnings of $15,042,716 or $1.02 per share.

He explained the record was achieved at the expense of borrowing from production later in the year.

Governor Urges Donations To Aid Church Repairs

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes, in a Good Friday message, asked Ohioans today to make donations to help rebuild and repair churches hit by tornadoes in the state last Sunday.

He said at least seven churches of various denominations were damaged or destroyed, and added, "These are only buildings, for the church remains . . . but the congregations of these damaged or destroyed churches are particularly needful of the strength of each other at this time."

"I am suggesting the formation of an interdenominational committee to supervise whatever offerings may be made for this rebuilding purpose," Rhodes' statement said.

He also said the financial help would provide a living memorial to the 54 tornado victims in Ohio.

Driver, 53, Cited In City Collision

Police cited a 53-year-old motorist after a minor traffic mishap Thursday on Lincoln Ave. at St. Clair Ave.

Antonio Juriewicz of Mt. Gay, W. Va., was charged with passing at an intersection in a collision that damaged his 1963 model two-door sedan and a 1959 two-door operated by Grace E. Casto, 46, of 726 Sophia St., of officers said.

Each blamed the other for the mishap, police reported. The woman said she was halted for a traffic signal and Juriewicz's auto hit the left front of her car as he attempted to pass. The West Virginian said he was making a left turn when the woman's auto hit his car. Patrolmen L. E. Richard and Paul A. Burson Jr. investigated. Juriewicz pleaded not guilty to the traffic charge, but was convicted after a hearing before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff. He was fined $10 and costs, with the fine suspended on payment of costs.

Ex-Envoy To Viet Lands In Honolulu

HONOLULU (AP) — Henry Cabot Lodge, former U.S. ambassador to South Viet Nam, touched down here for an overnight stay Thursday night before heading west to discuss the Vietnamese question with friendly nations.

He leaves today for New Zealand. He would make no comment to newsmen on his arrival at Hickam Air Force Base. He was met by Adm. U.S. Grant Sharp, top U.S. military commander in the Pacific.

VOLKSWAGEN
1965 used, has 4276 miles, just like new and still carries unused new car warranty. Drive a Volkswagen and save $$$ in every way every day. For instance no antifreeze, it's air cooled at 30° below zero. After your Volkswagen has been standing out all night it starts immediately. Can't boil (no water) air cooled. Gas station attendants would be lovely people if every one owned a Volkswagen for they will run up to 400 miles on a tank full of gas or up to 42 miles per gallon on regular and use no oil between changes. Holds only 5 3/16 pints of the best oil, no throw away filter at $3.25 just thoroughly cleaned and replaced. Up to 100,000 miles on tires if properly inflated and rotated. Low, low upkeep, no water pump, no universal joints, drive shaft, etc. or 1/2 inch parts. The V-8 such as 4 cylinder 4 stroke rear engine, only 4 spark plugs, oilless generator, oil bath air cleaner, no throw away, only clean and replace. Why don't you take advantage of a car with little or no obsolescence, just constant improvements. 1965 Volkswagen has a heater, radio, turn signals, dual padded sun visors, hand grip windshield wisher, increased vision all around by 15%, new wiper system, bigger brake cylinder means less pressure on pedal. Steering system is sealed. Requires no lubrication, new heater controls and bigger heater, warms up quicker when engine is cold. Sun visor can be pivoted from side to side, back seat passenger has more leg room, also back seat folds down to give you 17.7 cubic foot luggage compartment big enough for a couple of trunks. Many, many more improvements since 1952 at no extra $$$ to you. Think of it and what hasn't gone sky high since 1952. Not Volkswagen still only $1505 P.O.E. and all for no money down on any model. Just good credit, up to 48 months if you qualify. No payment till May 27, 1965 don't forget. It operates for a penny a mile. Just compare anywhere dollar for dollar and you get so much more for so little. If you can afford $100 per day you cannot afford not to own a Volkswagen (definition THE PEOPLES CAR). Ask yourself why you own a costly car when a Volkswagen does it so economically and resale is so very high and on some cars have so much depreciation in one year it would pay for a Volkswagen. Stop and ask the man or woman who owns one or your neighbor how he likes his Volkswagen and how much it costs to operate. Then come in and see one of our most courteous salesmen and make him prove it. Ride it - Drive it - and see for yourself the greatest surprise you have had since TV. at BEAVER VALLEY AUTO SALES, INC., VANTORT, BEAVER, PA. 20 minutes from East Liverpool. Route 68.

HERE'S HOW PLYMOUTH'S 5-YEAR, 50,000-MILE ENGINE AND DRIVE TRAIN WARRANTY PROTECTS YOU: Chrysler Corporation confidently warrants all of the following vital parts of its 1965 cars for 5 years or 50,000 miles, whichever comes first, during which time any such parts that prove defective in material and workmanship will be replaced or repaired at a Chrysler Motors Corporation Authorized Dealer's place of business without charge for such parts or labor: engine block, head and internal parts, intake manifold, water pump, transmission case and internal parts (excepting manual clutch), torque converter, drive shaft, universal joints, rear axle and differential and rear wheel bearings. Required maintenance: The following maintenance services are required under the warranty—change engine oil every 3 months or 4,000 miles, whichever comes first; replace oil filter every second oil change; clean carburetor air filter every 6 months and replace it every 2 years; and every 6 months furnish evidence of this required service to a Chrysler Motors Corporation Authorized Dealer and request him to certify receipt of such evidence and your car's mileage. Simple enough for such important protection.

Junior Editors Quiz on
WALKING FISH

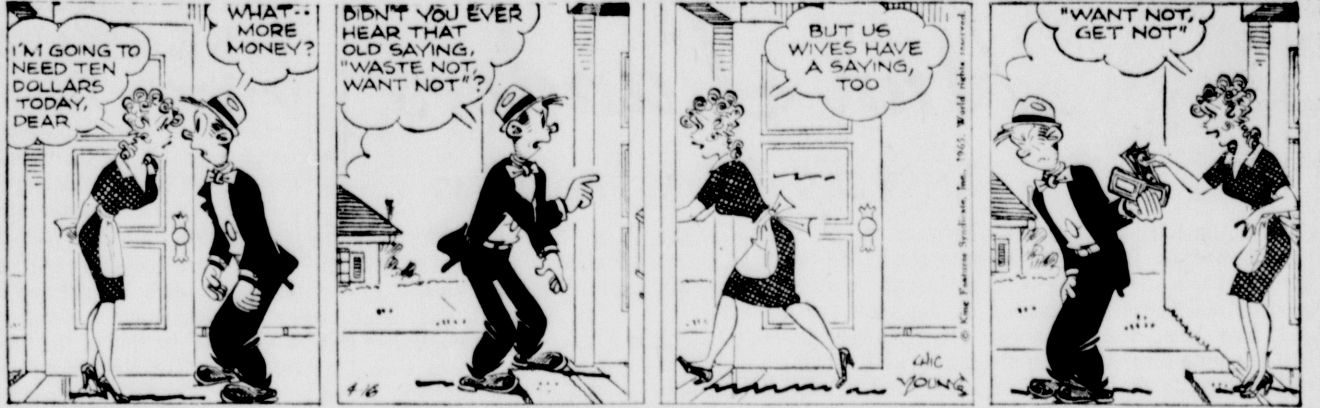

QUESTION: Can any fish walk?

ANSWER: Fish are the most ancient group of vertebrates, or animals with backbones; they existed long before there were any vertebrates on land. In the great span of time that fish have been swimming in the sea, nature has had opportunity to carry out many strange experiments with them. Some fish have learned to break above the surface and fly — or rather, glide — for short distances. Some have turned fishermen themselves, dangling lures in front of their gaping snouts. The fins of others have become adapted so that they can walk in addition to swimming.
The sea robin, in the upper picture, is one of these walking fish, with a fondness for ambling around in shallow water. The strange little "legs" which it uses to pull itself with are not true legs, but have developed from the rays of what were once a pair of breast fins. The fishes in the lower picture are even more remarkable, for they can move around on land, often doing so with a skipping motion which has given them the name of mud skippers. This fish has a unique way of breathing while in the air: it carries a supply of water in its gill compartments and so breathes by extracting oxygen from water as other fish do when swimming below the surface.

FOR YOU TO DO: We still haven't explained why these fish walk. Try to figure this out for yourself, then check with the answer. (Answer: It's not that they are bored with swimming, but walking brings them closer to the small creatures which are their favorite food.)
Susanne Costa of Taunton, Mass., wins this week's grand prize of a 20-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a divorced woman who is trying hard to raise my son to be a good citizen. He is 11 years old and I've been worried about him for quite some time. Lately small amounts of money have been missing from the house. Last week $3 I had set aside for the sitter mysteriously disappeared. Yesterday I saw my son rummaging around in my purse. He took out a dollar bill and stuck it in his shoe. He didn't know I passed the door just in time to see him.

I decided to tell him, about an hour later, that I had "lost" some money around the house and asked if he would help me look for it. I offered a 25-cent reward as an incentive. He helped me look for about 15 minutes then said, "You must have lost that money somewhere else."

I finally became exasperated and told him to look in his shoe because that's where I saw him put it. He broke into tears and said he didn't know why he did such terrible things.

Half an hour later he cut his finger while slicing some sandwich meat. I know he cut himself to get sympathy. Please tell me what is wrong with the boy and what to do about it.—ANXIOUS MOTHER.

Dear Mother: Children who steal do so because of deep-seated feelings of insecurity and frustration. Your son probably cut himself not to get sympathy, but because he felt the need for punishment. Get some outside help for this boy. Ask your family physician to direct you.

Smart Or Wise

Dear Ann: I'm writing to ask if there is any way you can teach a person to be smart. I'm just average myself but I have a girl friend who is very brainy. She knows an awful lot about a lot of things. I would just love to be as wise as she is.

My younger sister is very clever, too. I would give anything if I could think of the things to say that she says. Please tell me how people can make themselves smarter.—AD-MIRER OF BRAINS.

Dear Admirer: You use the words smart, brainy, wise and clever as if they all have the same meaning. They do not. A person can be shrewd, clever or quick-witted but this does not mean he is wise.

It's possible to have a head filled with information and still be stupid. Wisdom is more than mastering facts. Wisdom is knowing what to do with what you know, plus having the self-discipline to do it.

We all are limited by the intellectual machinery we inherit. You and I could never be Einsteins no matter how hard we tried. We can, however, increase our knowledge by reading and listening. And if we practice whatever it is that we wish to excel in, we can do that job better than most people.

Germ Warfare

Dear Ann: My kookie sister makes me mad. Her four children are always sick with something. When her eldest got the measles she intentionally exposed the other kids.

Last weekend she came to my house and brought her children. The 5-year-old looked as if he had the mumps. I took his temperature and it was 103. I said, "Beatrice, I think Percy has the mumps."

She said, "So do I." I told her she had a big nerve to bring a sick child to my house.

"It's best for kids if they get everything early," she replied. Is she right or wrong?—MAD.

Dear Mad: She is wrong. Every normal precaution should be taken to protect children against all diseases (particularly measles, which can be crippling or fatal). Most children get enough illnesses without inviting more.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ayers Demands Probe Regarding Union Elections

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ohio Congressman William H. Ayres has demanded an investigation to determine if new federal legislation is needed to protect the rights of union members.

Ayres, ranking Republican on the House Education and Labor Committee, said the committee should investigate the disputed elections of AFL-CIO presidents James B. Carey and David J. McDonald to see if federal labor law needs bolstering.

Carey resigned as president of the International Union of Electrical Workers after the Labor Department said union trustees had falsely given him some 25,000 votes of his opponent, Paul Jennings. Jennings was installed as president after Carey quit.

The re-election contest of United Steelworkers President McDonald against I. W. Abel is being investigated by union officials and informed sources expect a protest will be made to the Labor Department. Abel is expected to be named the winner when election results are announced May 1.

Wellsville Firm Plans Exhibit At Pittsburgh

The Wesco Manufacturing Co. of Wellsville will have an exhibit in the 1965 Pittsburgh Home Show April 28 through May 2 at the Civic Arena.

Wesco, owned by Myron Weiss, will display synthetic marble and plumbing supplies. The firm also manufactures laundry tubs and sinks.

More than 100 exhibitors are entered in the show.

Minister Speaks To Kiwanis Club On Easter Theme

"Christ and the Cross are the moral standards for the world," The Rev. Claude Schlosser of the Church of the Nazarene told the Kiwanis Club Thursday.

"They are like the monetary standards, such as gold and silver, on which other standards are based," he said at the meeting in the Travelers Hotel.

"But like some monetary bases, these moral standards are being corrupted by influences in today's life," he continued. "There are substitutions being made, but Christ and the Cross remain examples of how to live and how to die."

Rev. Schlosser screened a film depicting the Crucifixion of Jesus.

Final plans were announced for a club-sponsored rummage sale next week at a storeroom

a. 6th and Washington Sts. Harold Allison is in charge.

Attorney To Appeal Conviction Of Boxer

ASHTABULA, Ohio (AP)—An attorney for Victor Leon Sallee, one time Sandusky boxer, said he plans to appeal Sallee's conviction and prison sentence for a $1 robbery.

Sallee, 26, was sentenced to 1 to 25 years in Ohio Penitentiary Thursday by Common Pleas Court Judge Thomas Lambros for assaulting and robbing Paul Andrews in an Ashtabula parking lot.

Sallee was tried twice last year on charges of raping a 15-year-old Ashtabula girl, but each trial ended in a hung jury.

China's estimated mainland population of 740 million represents about 23 per cent of the world's population.

Surveys Begin On Tributaries

DEFIANCE, Ohio (AP)—The Soil Conservation Service began surveys on tributaries of the Little Auglaize River this week after the Maumee Watershed Conservancy District had agreed to pay $20,000 of the cost.

William S. Ufer, Defiance, an area conservationist, said the survey will be a first step in development of the watershed work plan that will include improvement of the main channel of the Little Auglaize and such tributaries as Town, Maddox and Hoaglin Creeks.

The Little Auglaize operation, designed for relief from flooding and improvement of drainage outlets, has an estimated price tag on it of $1,026,000.

By its action, the watershed district, which is made up of 15 Northwestern Ohio counties, averted an 18-month delay in determining the amount of the federal cost-sharing in the Little Auglaize program.

Find Indian Oil

CALCUTTA, India (AP)—The leader of a Soviet team surveying the Bay of Bengal for offshore oil deposits says early findings indicate enough oil to make India one of the world's leading producers. The Russian study will continue several more months.
